Dist. 34 hopes to bring home $7.1 million

Antioch Elementary School eligible for state grant if voter's approve referendum

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

There are many elements to the story behind the State of Illinois offer of $7.1 million to offset Antioch Community School District 34 school construction costs for a new school.

One element is the significant change that occurred in the state legislature that finally provided money for school construction.

Another element is the work that parents and school officials brought to the table at the right moment.

The last element will become known on Tuesday, April 13 when voters approve or deny a school bond referendum for $11.8 million.

The proposed school bond referendum brings all these elements together.

The Constitution for the State of Illinois specifically calls for the legislature to play a role in education. For many years, the state has not provided that support. This was especially evident as the Illinois Capital Development Board, CDB, languished through the 1980s and 1990s with no funding for school needs, according to Dr. Paul R. Hain. He is the director of business affairs and special services for District 34.

In recent years, the economy of Illinois has been strong, and the legislature finally has funded a school assistance program through the CDB. "This is an effort to make up for that (past history)," said Hain.

"Two years ago, the state legislature authorized funds and instructed the Capital Development Board to address the infrastructure needs of schools," said Hain.

The CDB developed policies and criteria to guide the distribution of state funds. "It is based on need and wealth," Hain said. The first level of need was related to natural disasters, such as tornadoes, which have destroyed school facilities.

The second level of need was for "projects designed to alleviate a shortage of classrooms due to population growth or to replace aging school buildings."

"We fell into level two," said Hain.

To demonstrate need, "we had to evaluate every room and school we have," he said. Classrooms and schools were evaluated for adequacy based on architecture, maintenance issues, life safety standards, square footage, and numbers of students. "Class by class they wanted to know this."

The State verified the growth projections. In Antioch, District 34 school enrollment is expected to increase 50 percent in the next five years. The state determined that the local projection used an appropriate methodology.

"To determine how much money Illinois would provide to school districts, the (Capital Development Board) created an index number which is based on the equalized assessed valuation of homes as well as the local tax rates. It is a measurement of wealth.

The wealth factor is a measurement of what local voters are doing to help themselves keep up with what was going on around them, according to Hain. Since Antioch has attempted to address its needs, the numbers in the evaluation reflected that.

"We were very fortunate to get a 49.2 index for our project."

The index amount applied to the eligible cost estimate of the proposed construction determined a grant amount for the local school district. "That is how the (state) money is tied to the (local) project," said Hain.

Local officials decided what type of educational structures are needed for Antioch area school children. In turn, those decisions were reviewed by Illinois officials to determine that they meet state educational standards. "We looked at our needs

Osmond to resign, supports Smouse

Resignation as Antioch Twp. supervisor effective April 8

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

State Representative Timothy H. Osmond (R-Dist. 62) will honor a commitment to resign from his post as Antioch Township Supervisor once the new township budget is prepared.

Osmond said that he would like to see township Trustee Steve Smouse receive the appointment to the supervisor position.

"I am going to resign effective April 8," Osmond said. "It will be up to the township trustees to appoint a new supervisor."

The newly appointed township supervisor will complete the remainder of Osmond's term.

Osmond said that Smouse is a well known resident with a deep commitment to community service.

"He's been very concerned with the township through involvement with the Lions Club, Rotary, and the rescue squad."

Osmond said that Antioch Township trustees have been able to substantially improve community service outreach through programs not previously offered.

Services have been provided related to family emergencies, RTA passes, and the Antioch Food Pantry. Antioch Township has sponsored educational programs for driver education preparation and programs of the University of Illinois Co-operative Extension Service. He said the township now is connected to the Internet, helped conduct a drug

Parade to lead Easter Bunny, children to park egg hunt

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch's Eggcellent Easter Adventure for children 1 to 10 years old is tomorrow, Saturday, April 3 at 11 a.m. at Williams Park after the Easter Parade through downtown Antioch.

The parade steps out at 10:30 a.m. from Park Avenue to march north on Main Street to Williams Park behind the Antioch Public Library District.

The parade will feature a full compliment of participants with some new entries previously not seen.

"The Easter Bunny will be riding in a car at the end of the parade," said Laurie Stahl, director of the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department. "There are about 20 different entries."

The front end of the parade will include a mixture of local groups such as the Girl Scouts, Mr. Pigg from the Piggly Wiggly supermarket, the Antioch Republican Club, area pageant queens, Antioch banks, a karate studio, PM&L Theater, and the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District. There will be a group marching to support the school bond referendum in District 34.

"We have a giant shopping cart in the parade," said John Dunsing, manager of the Jewel Osco Food Store. This is a large shopping cart: 16 feet high, 17 feet long, and 8 and a half feet wide. It comes with its own V-8 engine.

"This is brand new for the company," said Dunsing. Jewel Osco employees will be handing out candy along the route as will other participants.

The village egg hunt for children registered to participate begins when the parade reaches Williams park.

DIST. 34: Voters approval will net district $7.1 M grant and that is how we determined the project we wanted to build," said Hain.

The second element of the school funding story had started many years before. Ideas for improving district schools emerged in the 1995 school year. A citizen's advisory subcommittee on the Strategic Planning Committee examined space needs in response to anticipated growth. District 34 Superintendent Dr. Daniel Burke said, "The Strategic Planning Committee was all advisory."

The committee eventually presented seven options to the District 34 School Board.

District 34 School Board members spent a year talking about and evaluating the proposed alternatives, according to Burke. These were discussed at public meetings and with teachers to solicit ideas.

Out of those options, a series of school improvements were identified which could be presented to voters and to the State of Illinois.

The school improvement plan was decided upon before the state money was made available. The school board made the final call. They created a solution to meet the needs of students both current and in the future, according to Burke.

Burke said that the improvement proposal placed before voters is the best plan given the circumstances. "They were looking for an educationally sound plan and a fiscally prudent plan looking at the fact that school referendums can be difficult to pass," he said.

In terms of state financial assistance, the choices are:

- if the District 34 school improvement plan is changed, Antioch has to get back in line for state aid;
- if the District 34 school bond referendum does not pass, Antioch can get back in line and maybe be eligible at some future date for another state grant.

"It would be four years before we could access state money," said Hain. That, of course, assumes there is state money at that time. "For 20 years they didn't have a dime for this kind of work."

The third element of the school bond referendum now before voters is how school district voters will respond. The district is asking for taxpayers to approve issuing school bonds for $11.8 million to combine with a state grant of $7.1 million to construct $18.9 million worth of improvements.

Hain said that this means that the State of Illinois is picking up 37 percent of the cost to improve schools here.

This opportunity is mentioned at public meetings which the Citizens Referendum Committee is hosting throughout the community. It is mentioned in the presentation materials as well as their brochures.

Village, merchants boost positives of downtown sidewalk improvements

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Project now officially underway

Village officials officially broke ground for new downtown sidewalks Saturday, March 27 at 9:15 a.m.

"This project has been discussed for many years," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "It's very exciting to see it underway."

"An attractive streetscape and good sidewalks communicate an important statement about the vitality of downtown Antioch," she said. "The village supports the merchants and residents and this project reflects that."

In addition, downtown merchants have undertaken a shopper incentive program to thank customers who come into the stores during the downtown renovation program.

"The whole premise of this (program) is to reward people who come in," Chamber President Barbara Porch said. She was bringing Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry members up-to-date on their promotion program at their meeting on Thursday, March 18.

The downtown sidewalk project will replace sidewalks from Orchard Street to Park Avenue during the next 12 weeks, weather permitting. New sidewalks will be wider, level, and will provide greater growing area for downtown tree roots.

The week before ground breaking, contractors replaced water service for some downtown business.

"They're going to start tearing out the sidewalk April 5, right after Easter," said John Boldt, village consulting engineer from Clark-Dietz, Inc. "They're going to start on the east side first."

Contractor Greg Greenhill Construction Company will first remove the old sidewalk. Conduit for wires for street lights will be placed in the open sidewalk area. Cement then will be poured over the conduit to create the new walking surface. During the period of time the sidewalk area is open, a board walk from the street to the front door of the store will be in place for customers to use to enter stores. Many merchants also have opened rear entrances to their stores from parking lots behind all downtown stores.

Barricades will be placed along the east side of the street to remove the parking spaces from use during construction on that side of the street. People will still be able to drive through downtown Antioch.

"There's always going to be parking on one side of the street," Boldt said.

The Chamber of Commerce's participating downtown merchants are offering customers a variety of rewards for shopping during the next three months. Customers wearing a yellow and white promotion button or carrying a pocket card are eligible for special in-store incentive gifts when they shop.

In addition, customer names will go into weekly raffles in participating stores.

At the end of the sidewalk renovation, all shoppers entered in the weekly in-store raffles will be transferred automatically into a final raffle by all downtown merchants. The raffle prize will be $1,000 of Chamber of Commerce and Industry Gift Certificates which can be spent with member merchants.

All participating merchants have a poster in their window with a yellow hard-hat shown on it. In addition, other stores in the downtown area will be participating. These merchants include Antioch True-Value/Just Ask Rental and the Piggly Wiggly Supermarket on Orchard Street. Also, Polson's Natural Foods and Country Buick dealership at each end of downtown on Main Street will participate.

Chamber member merchants also have maps of downtown Antioch that show the locations of five public parking lots with over 400 parking spaces. Only a few dozen spaces on Main Street itself are affected by construction at any time.

Both village officials and downtown merchants have attempted to minimize the impact of the sidewalk replacement project. Village officials have started the project as early as possible in the construction season and will encourage swift completion of the project. Merchants have created the shopping incentive program to reward customers who use the new parking lots behind stores, use the new back entrances to the stores, and who shop in the stores.

PARADE: Celebrate Saturday

Children must have been registered to participate in the egg hunt according to Stahl.

Everybody can participate in watching the parade.

The Easter Bunny will be present at the hunt.

Parents may register their children for $2 until late this afternoon, Friday, April 2.

"We're taking reservations now at the Antioch Parks Office," said Stahl. "I advise parents that they should register in advance."

"We hunt rain or shine, so pray for sun," Stahl said. There is no rain date.

"We have four age groups," she said. Children 1 to 2 years old, 3 to 4 years old, 5 to 7, and 8 to 10. Each group wears a different color wrist band to help organize the groups of children.

"They'll each have their turn to go out and look for eggs. Each age group will go by itself," Stahl said. "They get 10 eggs each filled with prizes and Jelly Bellies, donated by Lakeland Publishers."

Children will be provided with plastic bags in which to place their ten collected eggs.

"Two children from each group will get a coupon in their eggs to win a special Easter basket."

The Easter Bunny will be in town. "She will be at the Senior Center on Friday and Saturday," Stahl said.

Parents can bring their own camera to take a picture with the Easter Bunny.

The Easter Bunny will be at the Antioch Area Senior Center, 817 Holbek Drive, 395-7120, today, Friday, April 2 from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. and on Saturday, April 3, from noon to 3 p.m.

awareness study in area grade schools, and has continued support for Independence Day celebrations with the Village of Antioch.

Osmond said township trustees voted to provide funds to support the Sequoit Creek Watershed Study. The study will evaluate stormwater management issues and provide units of government with topographic maps and other data to help manage land development.

Antioch Township was able to secure $200,000 of Community Development Block Grant funds over two years for road and stormwater management and flood control at Loon Lake.

Osmond said of his years on the township board that the trustees had heightened awareness of what is available to help voters and brought more services to people.

"More people have been helped through township government," he said.

Double-Eagle's first smoker next week

Double-Eagle Sports Club, at Routes 59 and 173, will have its first golf smoker next Thursday, April 8. There are still some tickets left. They help hosts Vince and Arlene Tomasello gauge how many filet mignon, back ribs, and shrimp, and cigars, they need for each meal for the women and men eating at 7:30 p.m. The Tomasellos will host the event along with Lee Fry, publisher of "The Cigar Smoker" magazine.

This sounds like an interesting evening. There will be a professional cigar roller to demonstrate the art of making a cigar. There is Samuel Adams Beer, Vodka Martinis, Glenmorangie Single Highland Malt Scotch Whisky to drink in addition to Manhattans made with Gentleman Jack. The drinks are included in the ticket price. There are the incredible gold simulators to take golfers to any great course anywhere in the world.

"This whole thing is celebrating the first day of the Masters Tournament," said Adam Zakroczymski. He is helping to make the arrangements for this first ever event at Double-Eagle Sports Club.

The food should be very good, as well as the desert specially made by Chef David in the state-of-the-art kitchen.

Armanetti Action Liquor is involved as is "The Cigar Smoker" magazine, Samuel Adams Beer, and Brown-Forman Select Brands.

It is a $50 per ticket evening with many gifts for guests, including a humidor bag of cigars that, alone, may be worth $35.

"I like to think it is something that has never been done in this area," said Zakroczymski.

The German-American Club of Antioch will host their Spring Dance Saturday, April 17 at the VFW Hall. The Tempos will play for those who wish to listen or to dance. People who want further information can call Susan Tanaschovsky on the telephone (395-5008). The doors open at 6:30 and the event starts at 7:30 p.m.

Dist. 34 candidates work to pass bond referendum

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Candidates seeking election for Antioch Community School District 34 School Board positions are all focused on the need to pass the District 34 School Bond referendum.

As one candidate said at a Thursday, March 25 Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry meeting, "If you only have one vote in you, I'd rather it be for the referendum."

It is a sentiment with which all four candidates seem to agree.

There are four candidates for three positions on the board of the Antioch Community School District 34. They are Steven M. Turner, Kathryn Oddsen Wilson, Vickie Axton, and Dennis C. Cozzi.

Steven M. Turner said, "This will be my second term." He also had served a one-year appointment before his first election.

For Turner, his service on the school board has provided two opportunities, one as a father and one as a member of the community. "It's my opportunity to fulfill my need to participate in my children's education," he said. And, "It allows me to participate in the spending of our tax dollars in a wise way."

For him, the number one goal is to pass the $11.8 school bond referendum. In addition, he said he wants to see "our district maintain the edge it currently has regarding technology."

"I want to make sure we maintain our concern with security."

As an incumbent board member, he is not only proud of the work to address school enrollment growth issues, but also the use of creative intergovernmental agreements to secure facilities for school use. For example, he appreciates the value of the agreement negotiated with Camp Hastings YMCA for the use of their swimming pool, as well as the before/after-school club created for parents by the YMCA.

Turner brings to the board an ability to listen and to work out a solution that is both fiscally sound and addresses concerns of board members. "Our district has been managed very well," he said. He cites both Don Skidmore and Daniel Burke as conscientious superintendents for the district.

"I have a concern about the growth and maintaining small class sizes and maintaining good teachers in the district."

He offers himself to voters as a person who is fully ready to serve the district. Also, with a family member in each school of the district, he brings a perspective about the entire school district to the matters that come before them.

"I'm familiar with maintaining budgets and foreseeing problems that will come up later in a budget."

Kathryn Oddsen Wilson is a life-long resident of Antioch. She has a professional practice as an optometrist. "I've been involved with (the local) schools since I came back from graduate school," she said.

Actually, her family has been involved with community schools all of her life. Her grandmother served on the Antioch Community High School Board. "My mom was on the District 34 School Board in the 1970s," she said. "She was on there a good 12 years."

"I sat on the board from the fall of 1988. I elected not to run again last term." During that time, Wilson served awhile as school board president.

At the present time, she is one of four members on the Citizens Steering Committee managing passage of the school bond referendum.

"When I was on the board, we created the Education Foundation. I am currently the president of the Education Foundation."

She is running for the school board again because she believes that education is very important. Wilson said that she wants good schools in the community when the time comes to educate her own (two) children and believes that others feel that way also. "It takes a long time (to create good schools)," she said. "We're very fortunate. Antioch has some great grade schools."

Her past accomplishments with the district even include a past successful school referendum. "We passed the last school referendum that the schools went for," she said. "We offered great programs for the money we spent."

For her, the issues for education in the district are related to passing the referendum. The need to house the anticipated influx of students is what creates the need for the referendum.

Wilson offers the community a life-long involvement with education as both a consumer and as someone involved with the school district. She is concerned about what is going on and is working to build a good educational future for the community's children.

Vickie Axton has been an Antioch resident for 16 years. During that time, she has been deeply immersed in the volunteer life of Antioch and district schools. She is president of the Antioch Parks and Recreation Board, on which she has served 11 years, and is an active member of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club. She is one of four people helping to manage passage of the school bond referendum for District 34 and serves as its treasurer. She has served on many village event committees and is well known for her work as co-chair of the group that built Centennial Park.

"I am active in the community so I have an opportunity to listen and hear people's opinions," she said. "I've been active in the school district for nine years."

One particular goal which she would like to work to achieve if elected to the school board is a reflection of her involvement with development issues. "I've seen a lot of developers come through," she said. "I'd like to see the school board become more involved with working with developers as they come through (the development process)."

Axton said that at the present time, developers only discuss impact fees with the school district. She believes that developers need to share their planning documents with the school district during the review process. For her, the development review process should concern itself with more than just an impact fee payment based on a formula.

"My number one goal is to get this referendum passed," she said. "The time is right."

Axton is proud of the fact that she is a founding member of the District 34 Education Foundation. "It's still growing," she said.

She also takes pride in the work of the Parent Teacher Organization

Cozzi: PTO member, soccer coach

Axton: Has been deeply immersed in the volunteer life to have a Teen Canteen event at Antioch Upper Grade School. It meets every other Friday night from 6:30 to 9 p.m. in the gymnasium and cafeteria.

"It's a wonderful program the PTO took over this year," she said. "It's a place for both seventh and eighth graders to go and dance and hang out."

Axton takes pride in her work with the school as a volunteer on field trips or as a room mom. She enjoys the opportunity to help and work with both students and teachers.

"I think growth is going to continue to be an issue," she said. "We're not done."

"Growth is the key, and, with that is classroom size and how it affects education."

Another issue for her relates to communication. She wants "to keep the lines of communication open to everyone." This includes communication not only between the village and the district but also between District 34 and Antioch Community High School. She said that the district needs "to be sure we're adequately preparing our students for high school."

Axton brings a lifelong interest in education to the public for their consideration. She has a Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education. She has been involved in past school referendums. "I've been very supportive of the school and volunteering," she said.

Dennis C. Cozzi has lived in Lake Villa with his family for seven years. He has been a member of the Oakland School Parent Teacher Organization for three years.

"I'm a soccer coach with the Lindenhurst Soccer league," he said. "I'm a coach with Antioch Youth Baseball."

"I was treasurer of the Antioch (Cub Scout) Pack 191, and now I am serving as assistant cub master." Cozzi has been a den leader for two years.

His active involvement with community youth programs also carries him into the classroom where he serves as a volunteer. "I volunteer a minimum of two days a week at Oakland School," he said.

Cozzi would like to serve on the District 34 school board. "I think education is important for the kids," he said. "I want to get involved with the programs (the district is) developing for the future."

He said, "The school board is a good place to be involved and grow with the community."

"I have a good technical background to bring to the school," he said. "They're really changing a lot with new technology."

Cozzi too places strong importance on the passage of the school bond referendum. "It's going to make a big difference if that passes or doesn't pass." The kind of growth that is anticipated for the area will have an impact on the school, and he would like to see it managed so it does not negatively effect educational quality.

"I'm hoping the new school referendum passes, and I'd like to be part of all that happens."

"The most important issue is the referendum and space for the coming children," he said. "The (home) building here is astounding."

Nine days remain to purchase a raffle ticket from the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District.

The first prize is $5,000. Second prize is $2,500.

There will be eight other additional winners.

Winning tickets will be drawn Sunday, April 11 during an open house at the fire station from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

"We will have the drawing of the raffle ticket at 2 p.m.," said Frankson. Winners need not be present to win.

Fire fighters are sponsoring the raffle to purchase one of the most advanced pieces of rescue equipment to find victims in a burning building. The camera helmet distinguishes images by heat and lets fire fighters see through black smoke.

"This is the most modern fire technology for saving lives in the fire service," said Frankson. "When you walk in (the burning building) with the camera, you can see everything."

Tickets for the raffle are sold at the Antioch fire station and at banks in downtown Antioch.

"People can come in to the Antioch fire station from 8:30 in the morning to 4:30, Monday through Friday," said Frankson.

Firefighters are contacting local businesses to determine if they would like to buy a ticket. "One place bought four tickets and donated $400," Frankson said. Other businesses just buy one of the $150 apiece tickets.

Either way, Frankson said that it helps support their effort to buy the new equipment.

Only 200 tickets are being sold for the raffle. Each ticket costs $150. The raffle will raise $30,000 of which $10,000 will be given away as 10 cash prizes.

Second prize in the raffle drawing is $2,500. Winners three through five will receive $500. Winners six through 10 will receive $200.

"One in every 20 people will win a cash prize," said Captain Sam Frankson of the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District.

Tickets are available at State Bank of The Lakes, 440 Lake Street; First National Bank—Employee Owned, 485 Lake Street; First National Bank of Chicago, 425 Lake Street; and Bank of Waukegan, 40200 North Route 59.

Library Friends seek books for sale

Antioch Library Friends will accept donations of used books for their annual spring sale starting today, Friday, April 2.

Their annual used book sale is Saturday, May 1 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

People are encouraged to donate books that are suitable for resale. Encyclopedias and textbooks will be accepted since there is a demand for them.

There are certain types of reading material that will not be accepted, such as Reader's Digest Condensed Books or magazines. Books that are damaged or moldy will be thrown away.

During the month of April, people may leave fiction, non-fiction, and soft cover books at the library.

Sale of used books helps the volunteer group of library friends provide financial contributions to the Antioch Public Library District.—

Java Garden offers coffee, flowers, tea, herbs

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Java Garden brings special coffees and teas to downtown Antioch for customers wanting a cup for their train commute or for shoppers who want to linger at the green and white tables.

Owners Greg Spinner and Marianne Giannis offer a rich variety of tea, coffee, as well as the opportunity to buy some dried flowers. The wood floors, high tin ceiling, and the smell of fresh brewed coffee or tea offer a special start or finish for customer's activities.

"I'm so happy to see everyone who walks through this door," said Spinner. "It's always a pleasure to talk with everybody. The people of Antioch are so friendly."

He said that the first two weeks have been very good.

Spinner and Giannis have packaged coffees and teas for purchase. Some of the coffee on display included Irish Cream, Hazelnut, Hazelnut Decaf, and French Vanilla. Among the teas were Blue Mountain Breakfast Blend, Green Tea Blend, Ginger-Peach Black Tea, and Happy Tea.

Coffee is available by the cup. "We have an espresso machine," Spinner said. "We'll do health shakes."

They also have cappuccino, mocha, hot chocolate, apple cider, biscotti, cookies, and muffins.

"All our coffee is organic," he said. "So is our milk. We're very select in our sodas—more of a natural tendency."

Even the wreaths and bouquets of dried flowers on the wall are organically grown. "These are dried, everlasting flowers," Spinner said.

There was also a display of a few dozen strings of dried chili peppers. Some of the dried wreaths were based on entwined grape vines and others were bound floral displays.

"We have a rear entrance and convenient parking," Spinner said. The parking lot is entered from Skidmore Drive, similar to parking for PM&L Theater, Something Sweet, and DiMarco's restaurant.

During the week, the doors open at 6:15 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. On Friday and Saturday, the coffee starts to flow at 7 a.m. and closes at 9 p.m.

It is a fresh new store opening in a fresh new season.

Spinner said, "This is my life dream."

Visit Europe Without Leaving the Warm Caribbean

by JIM WARNKEN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

Want a taste of Europe and the sun, sand and surf of the Caribbean? Consider a cruise visiting the Southern Caribbean.

After the Dutch kicked the Spaniards off of Curacao in 1634, they turned the island into a tropical Holland in miniature. The spectacular houses fronting the Grand Harbor made me think I was looking at the narrow mansions lining Holland's canals. Indeed, these works of architectural art make Curacao the most important island architecturally in the entire West Indies. Exciting casinos and sun average temperature of 81 degrees make Curacao an island not to miss.

Our substitute for a French port would have to be Martinique in the French West Indies. Empress Josephine of France called this island home as did Madame de Maintenon, mistress of Louis XIV. Martinique is still considered to have the most beautiful women in the West Indies.

Martinique's terrain runs from miles of sandy beaches to mountains rising to 4,600 ft. Martinique was called the Island of Flowers by the Carib Indians. A tour of the interior of this lush island will leave little doubt as to why.

For a taste of old Spain, a visit to the island of Puerto Rico is just the ticket. Under Spanish rule for almost four centuries, Puerto Rico retains the flavor of Old Spain. A walking tour of the walled city of Old San Juan is a five hundred year step back in history.

With one half of the island belonging to the Dutch (St. Maarten) and the other under French rule (St. Martin), a visitor can experience two European cultures within an area of only 37 square miles. This island is the perfect place to rent a moped, buy some Dutch cheese and French wine and head out for a picnic on a remote beach. Night life?? Choose one of the island's eight casinos or fast paced discos.

I have only touched on the diverse character and European influences of our island nations to the south. Many other early societies settled the hundreds of Caribbean islands bringing with them their cultures from old world Europe.

'55 Alive' starts classes, wants to expand offeringsBy KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Classes to improve defensive-driving skills and to maintain mobility will be offered by the American Association of Retired Persons' "55 Alive" program in late April for interested drivers.

Reservations are now being taken for a class to be taught on two days, Tuesday, April 27 and Friday, April 30.

"It's four hours each day from 9 to 1 p.m.," said Mollie Clark. "This is the first one for this year. They will be held approximately one per month until Thanksgiving."

The classes are taught in single sessions on two days.

Classes will be in the community room of the First National Bank-Employee Owned. "They can call the bank (395-3111) to register," she said.

"(The program is) to help older drivers improve skills, avoid traffic crashes and traffic violations, and maintain mobility and independence," she said. "We've been doing this for two years."

Clark has taught the class previously and is looking for additional instructors to bring the program to all of Lake County. She says it has a positive effect on the driving safety of the people who take it.

"AARP has a big push on for instructors," Clark said. "We need people from all over. They can call me and I can give them all the information." She can be reached by telephone at 838-2113. Evening and Saturday instructors are needed.

"It's good if they've taken the class because then they're familiar with it."

Many of the ideas in the program have been helpful for all drivers. For example, Clark said that she tries to encourage people to drive all the time with their full headlights on because that will turn on their car's tail lights. "On all of our two lane roads around here, that is important."

"In Scandinavia, they reduced their daytime accident rate by 38

First National Bank-Employee Owned is at 485 Lake Street.

Dist. 34 meeting on referendum April 8

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa, Antioch, and Lindenhurst residents are invited to a public meeting to learn about the Antioch Community School District 34 School Bond referendum.

The meeting will be at the Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church on Thursday, April 8 at 6:30 p.m.

School officials will present the district's proposal to provide classroom space to meet increased enrollment in Antioch schools, to improve existing facilities, and to do it in a cost effective manner.

Burke said that voters may ask questions of district officials, principals, and school board members who attend this meeting.

The Community Bible Church is a large white building about one mile east of the Grass Lake Road and Route 83 intersection south of Antioch. It is on the south side of the road and has convenient parking.

RINGA FUNERAL HOME

Bob Ringa, Jr. - Funeral Director

Funeral customs are slowly changing, and so, too, is the ownership of many family funeral homes and cemeteries.

A recent trend has been for a few large domestic and foreign corporations to purchase family-run funeral homes. Unfortunately, they do not change the name on the sign, leaving one to assume the original family still owns the establishment.

Our firm is still owned by the family that founded it over 103 years ago. And, because we are a family-owned and directed funeral home, we can still provide the thoughtful service that only a family can, at fair prices.

Auctioneer's Night set for mid-April

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The Seventh Annual Auctioneer's Night for St. Peter Catholic Church is Saturday, April 17 starting at 6 p.m. in Father Hanley Hall.

Donations for the auction are now being collected.

The evening of both silent and live auction, action will be capped with "a 'special' appearance by the great Grease Band after the auction," according to Jim Orticelli. He is a member of the steering committee.

The evening includes a raffle with a top prize of free tuition next year at St. Peter's School. The prize is transferable, in case the winner has no school age children.

The full-evening of entertainment and fund-raising will be set in the 1950s. "There's a 1950s theme to the auction," Orticelli said. "We're going to serve period food, a 1950s menu."

There will be cocktails at 6 p.m. with dinner starting at 7 p.m. The auction gets underway at 8 p.m.

"Donations would be greatly appreciated," said Orticelli. People with good items for the auction can contact Orticelli, 838-9646, or Wayne Sobczak, 395-1010.

Tickets are available for $10 from a variety of sources. People may buy tickets at the Sense and Sensibility Program after church mass and also both before and after school. Tickets are available in the school office, 900 St. Peter Street, and from Tiffany Real Estate offices, 549 Lake Street.

Tickets may be purchased from steering committee members. They include Orticelli, Sobczak, Linda Pedersen, Julie Konvalinka, and Diane Nelson.

Jewel hosts early egg hunt

If shoppers need to stop at the Jewel Saturday morning to pick up some donuts and a newspaper, it may be wise for them to do it before 7:15 and after 8 a.m.

Jewel Osco Food Store is sponsoring an in-store egg hunt.

"The egg hunt is on Saturday morning, April 3 at 7:30 a.m. in the store," said John Dunsing, store manager. "We have 7,000 eggs we're going to hide."

Parents are invited to bring their children to hunt for eggs in the Jewel Osco Food store. "We have separate age groups for the children," Dunsing said. Each age group will be able to hunt for eggs in separate aisles. The age groups are: from babies to three years old, 4 and 5 years, 6 and 7 years, and 8 and 9 years.

Pre-registration is not necessary.

Children will be searching for plastic eggs that will contain toys, candy, coupons for special prizes, and special bonus eggs. The bonus eggs will allow children to have larger items that do not fit into eggs such as toys, squirt guns, puzzles, and games.

Eggs will be on shelves and the floor where children can find them.

"The Easter Bunny will be here at the same time for complimentary photographs," Dunsing said.

"It should be a lot of fun." — By Kenneth Patchen

March Madness gives way to boys (girls) of summer

This week marks the official two-year anniversary of my first day of work at Lakeland Newspapers, and just like, this time of year turns our attention outdoors, as hundreds of thousands of Lake County residents stare out their office or home windows and daydream of basking in the warm glow of spring.

And for us sports fans, that means baseball, softball, track and field, soccer and tennis. Finally we can get out of the musty gymnasiums and into the fresh spring air, watch athletes competing against other athletes in the midst of perhaps Lake County's best season.

Sure, we'll have our overcast, dreary, rainy days. Days that rain-out baseball, softball and tennis and track. But there will be so many enjoyable nice days that will feature some great athletic performances from our area athletes, young and old. This is one the best times of the year, because we can enjoy our outdoor sports, without having to suffer through the dog-days of an oppressive summer.

This year I don't think Lake County will boast any athletes on the track or in the field quite like Zion-Benton alumni Quiande Moore, who won the state title in the high jump, long jump and triple jump.

That may be a feat that stands for years, but we should see some performances worthy of another look.

Watch out for Warren's Dante Daniels. Last year he was one of the best runners in the area as a junior, and after a solid football season, and plenty of time in the weight room and on the track, Daniels should be a force to reckon with when the state meet comes around.

On the diamond, watch for the North Suburban Conference to have one of its most balanced and competitive seasons in years. Libertyville, with huge graduation losses, will not be quite the juggernaut it has been over the past four seasons, and teams like Warren and Mundelein will vie for the coveted NSC title. Look out for Stevenson and Antioch, too, as this year it really could be anyone's race to win, so to speak.

With all this warm-weather talk and outdoor sports action, I don't want to forget about the other sports. As for heated competition, it may not get any hotter than between Libertyville and Mundelein in boys gymnastics.

Mundelein holds the No. 1 ranking in the state right now, and has shown no signs of giving up that title—the Mustangs scored a state-season-high total of 161.2 earlier in the season, and beat challenging Libertyville handily.

Libertyville, who should contend with Mundelein for the NSC title and may give them a run for their money in the post-season, lost the match to Mundelein with a less-than-healthy squad.

Look for these two teams to put up a battle worthy of everyone's attention.

Future is now for ACHS soccer

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

It could be a very big year for the Antioch varsity girls soccer team.

For starters, eighth-year coach Charlie Trout has eight seniors returning, including four that are currently on the school's top 15 career scoring list.

"They're a great corp and definitely our nucleus," he said.

Trout is referring to co-captains Jamie Wismer, Mandy Fasano, Amie Carlberg, and Sarah Richardson.

Wismer and Carlberg, both midfielders, and Fasano, a forward, were all selected to the all-conference teams last year, while Richardson brings three years of varsity experience to the table. Richardson is currently 15th on the career scoring list at Antioch.

Fasano, the teams reigning MVP and 13th on the career goal scoring list, was selected to the all-section team.

In addition, Wismer, who is fifth on the career scoring list at ACHS, was named along with Carlberg, 14th on the list, to the honorable mention all-section team by the IHSSCA.

The four of them combined for 26 goals and 32 assists last season.

The offense looks strong, but how about defensively?

Antioch returns four players from a defense that allowed just 19 goals in 21 games last year.

They include defensemen Kristin Gamlin and Jourdan Phillips, both juniors, and sophomore midfielder Emily Niles. Sophomore midfielder Katianna Pechauer is currently recovering from a knee injury and is hoping to return to the lineup soon.

"They should break that record," said Trout, referring to the 19 goals allowed last year. "They are key players who will be looked to for leadership as well."

Thursday, March 25, Antioch (1-1), avenged its season-opening loss by pounding visiting Grayslake, 6-0.

Amie Carlberg found the net twice and Sarah Richardson added a goal and two assists as the Sequoits held a 4-0 lead at intermission.

"We really controlled the ball and our passing was excellent," said head coach Charlie Trout. The Sequoits kicked off the season two days earlier, only to come up on the short end of a 2-0 decision to Cary-Grove.

"We start off playing some tough teams right off the bat," said Trout.

"We did a lot of things well, but in turn, there is a lot of work and improvement that needs to be addressed. We had a lot of close calls but just couldn't get the ball into the net."

The Sequoits controlled the first half and part of the second, but Cary-Grove was awarded a free kick with 27 minutes left, which went through the uprights from about 60 yards out.

It proved to be the game winner as Cary-grove added an insurance goal later in the (second) half.

"We played very well up to that point," said Trout. "But we got down and dropped our intensity after their first goal."

Despite the setback Tuesday, look for Antioch to better its 13-7-1 mark and third place finish (4-2) in the FVC from a year ago. The Sequoits also finished third in its own tournament and the Lake Zurich Invitational as well.

A tough act to follow

Gooch era ends, rebuilding begins

Staff Reporter

The Gooch era has ended at Antioch High School.

For most of the 1990's, Antioch High School had three brothers rule the track world in this neck of the woods. With 23 school records between the trio, the eldest brother, Doug, graduated in 1995 and three years later followed Dave (98).

Meanwhile, the youngest, Quinn, was well on his way to following in his brothers footsteps. Only he has since moved to Arizona and is currently a senior at Soldona High School outside of Phoenix.

"We lost a lot of point-getters last year, with Quinn being the most heralded," head coach Norm Hahn said, who is entering his 25th year as head boys track coach at ACHS.

"He was a three-time state qualifier for us," said Hahn. "And from what I hear, he's already made his mark out there and well on his way to being a three-sport standout—they sure acquired a high caliber athlete."

So how will Antioch fill the void left by the last of the Gooch legacy?

They say strength is in the numbers, and the Sequoits definitely have that—65 to be exact.

"I was really happy with the turnout," said Hahn. "We're lacking in experience but that will take its course naturally."

At last count, the roster included 23 freshmen, approximately 30 sophomores, 15 juniors, and four seniors.

Two of those seniors Hahn expects to see score a lot of points include pole-vaulter/hurdler Kevin Collins and co-captain Adam Podstawa, the team's best sprinter.

Podstawa will compete primarily in the 100 and 200 meter dashes but will also assist in the 400, 800, and mile relays. He is coming off a torn ACL injury sustained during the football season last fall and is expected to be back in full form by mid-April.

Hahn is also very excited about his junior corp, most notably John Tsakonas, a transfer from Michigan and good long-distance runner who is consistently under the five minute mark in the mile.

In addition, junior co-captain Jim Meyer, who ran varsity as a sophomore, will see a lot of action in the middle-distance events, especially the mile and two mile relay.

Junior Harry Glinos, a sprinter who has seen two years of action on the varsity level, acquired invaluable experience running with two of the Gooch brothers for two years, where he shares a couple of school records in relay events.

Glinos is a sprinter that will specialize in the 100 and 200 meter dashes as well as the short-distance relay events.

Sophomore Nick Smith will also add depth to the sprinters contingent, and Mike Mercado and Eric Langner, both of who ran the 200 and 800 meter relays last year, are strong long-distance runners.

"They're both real good prospects for the half-mile," said Hahn. "They were around 2:06 last year as freshman, and that's not too bad at all. Hopefully, we can get them under two minutes."

"We have some really nice talent in the freshman and sophomores," said Hahn. "The numbers are there—we just need to keep making progress and I think we'll be decent."

Consistency the key for Sequoits track and field

Experience to yield solid season

Staff Reporter

The Antioch girls varsity track team is looking for another consistent season under sixth year coach Kathy Kelly.

"You never know, though," she said.

Well, what the Sequoits do know is that they have senior Katie Rogers returning, a state qualifier in the discus from a year ago and the team's co-MVP.

"That's her main thing," said Kelly. "We're looking for her to also compete and perform well in the shot put."

Senior Cindy Aikus shared team MVP honors with Rogers and returns as the featured triple and long jumper.

"She's versatile," said Kelly. "She will probably run some relays—all in all, she's a vital part of this team."

Jessica Sladek is another returning senior who looks to have a stronghold on the 300 hurdles.

"She's got a lot of strength," said

Kelly. "The 300 hurdles—that's her baby!"

Aside from Aikus, Sladek, and Rogers, junior Becky Clarke is also expected to put some major points on the board, especially in the 100-meter-dash.

"We're hoping for some big things out of her this year as well," said Kelly.

Clarke will also compete in the relay events and most likely the hurdles as well.

The Sequoits only apparent gap seems to be in the distance category, where the numbers are down a little from in the past.

The underclassmen are going to be expected to step it up right out of the gates.

"They look very promising," said Kelly. "We're not hurting with what we have. We just don't have the numbers in that event that we're used to."

Of those expected to make significant contributions (in the distance events) include: sophomores Jackie Kalb, Sara Breezinski and Kristen Jensen; and, freshman Holly Clarke, Becky's sister and one of the top four runners on last fall's cross country team.

Lady Sequoits struggle early in softball season

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

After two losses in Lake County to open the season, the Antioch girls softball team traveled to Peoria last week to battle Pekin and Peoria-Notre Dame in a four-game tournament down state.

The results were mixed for the young Antioch girls, who have not had much time to practice through this point in the season. Antioch dropped three of the four games, but coach Steve Wapon did see some things to give the Antioch faithful something to cheer for.

"We've only had one practice, and only have three seniors," said Wapon. "We're a young team. We played pretty sporadically, but we're trying to develop consistency."

The first game featured Antioch in a battle with Pekin, with Pekin prevailing 7-4.

The Sequoits pitching was handled by Abby Thomas, who threw all six innings, faced 34 batters, gave up nine hits, four earned runs, walked none and struck out six.

Leading the Lady Sequoits at the plate were Jamie Knauth, 3-4 with two singles and a double; Carrie Hagglund, 2-3; Thomas, 2-4 with 1 RBI; and Megs Kotlarz, 1-2, 2 RBI.

The second game saw Antioch roll over Pekin 13-4, as winning pitcher Kaeleen O'Connell pitched five innings, faced 27 batters, scattered five hits, had six strikeouts and walked eight.

Offensively, Antioch was led by Knauth, who was 3-5 with 2 RBI; Kotlarz, 2-4 with a double; O'Connell, 1-2 with 2 RBI; Nicole Astar, 1-3 with 1 RBI and a triple; Melissa Bock, 1-2 with 2 RBI; and Kristen Curran, 1-2 with a double and 2 RBI.

"That was our first win of the year. We really hit the ball well," said Wapon. "Sophomore Nina Merlo at catcher was sound. We were balanced at the plate."

"We played very well for the second game of a double-header," added Wapon.

The next double-header against Peoria was a tale of two very different ballgames. The first game was a defensive battle with Peoria winning 1-0.

Sophomore pitcher Thomas, who according to Wapon is looking more and more like the team's number one pitcher, struck out six, walked one and gave up two hits in six innings of work for Antioch.

The girls were hurt by injuries in the close loss, as both Hagglund and Astar injured their ankles while sliding into bases, yielding a broken and sprained ankle, respectively.

Wapon said the key to the game came in the last inning as Kotlarz hit deep into center field, and was thrown out at home on a controversial call.

"We played sound defensively. Offensively, we faced a tough pitcher from Notre Dame," said Wapon.

The final game of the tournament, and the fourth game in 24 hours was in which the Antioch girls were fighting fatigue as much as the Peoria-Notre Dame team. Antioch lost 15-2.

O'Connell gave up 12 hits and struck out four while walking five as the starting pitcher for Antioch.

"I think the fatigue caught up with us," said Wapon, from a spring break vacation in Mesa, Arizona. "Defensively we were sluggish, but overall I have a good feeling about this team."

"I like the attitude and work ethic of this team," added Wapon.

Five Generations of Authentic Italian Cooking

Over 100 years ago, Fred Rosati immigrated from Italy with a recipe for success; authentic Italian cooking. New at the time, he quickly wowed customers with many Italian favorites. Not one to sacrifice quality, he made all his entrees from scratch daily. Today, cooking from scratch has become a Rosati's tradition. The tradition has been passed on through Fred, Dick, Ron and Al Rosati. They realized authentic Italian cooking can only be that. You can't use canned goods in place of fresh ingredients. Sauces must be made daily. And each entree must be cooked individually.

As the fifth generation of Rosati's gets cooking, some things will change, but not authentic Italian cooking. For your next pizza, Italian beef or lasagna, make it Rosati's; five generations of great taste.

To understand why Rosati's pizzas are better, examine this pie chart.

When it comes to pizza, no town is more discriminating than Chicago. And no other pizza has the unique taste that's made Rosati's a Chicago tradition for over 30 years. Made the old world way from Rosati family recipes, with only the freshest ingredients, Rosati's delivers the great taste of Chicago pizza.

The new definition of prestige in the luxury touring class - the 1999 A6 Sedan and A6 Avant.

With its totally new A6 Avant and its revolutionary A6 sedan, Audi has succeeded in taking the mainstream German luxury touring car segment into the future and even changing the way people see cars on the whole.

This A6 duo establishes a new prestige. A prestige marked by superior design, dimensions and dynamics. It asks and answers the question "Can one car change the way you look at all cars?"

Last Fall, Audi introduced the daring A6 sedan to North America. So successful was it that it was recognized as a finalist in the North American Car of the Year competition. This past June, Audi introduced the new A6 Avant, its luxury touring wagon, to the market as a 1999 model year vehicle.

With their 200 horsepower, 2.8 liter five-valve V6 engine, five-speed automatic transmission with Tiptronic® and an exhaustive list of standard features, the A6 sedan and Avant set a new standard among luxury touring cars. Both of these automobiles offer a choice of three different interior environments, called "Atmospheres," that owners can choose from at no extra cost to personalize their definition of luxury. Standard features such as next generation front airbag supplemental restraints, standard seat mounted front side airbags, dual-zone climate control, a 140 watt stereo system with subwoofer, and a split/folding rear seat only hint at the amenities contained in both A6, the new definition of prestige in the luxury touring class.

New standard equipment for 1999 on both the A6 sedan and Avant (with September Avant production) are a larger right outside mirror, lockable headrests for the front seats, fasteners added to the rear floor mats, a force limiter added to the front seat belts, a first aid kit in the center rear armrest and an upgraded tool kit. Added to the exterior color palette is Tornado Red, and a Vanilla with Onyx leather option has been added to the "Ambiente" atmosphere. The A6's Warm Weather package has been optimized to improve the performance of electronic accessories such as garage door openers and electronic toll passes. The package now includes a solar sunroof (which powers the ventilation system when the car is at rest to cool the interior when sitting in the hot sun) and rear window sunshades. Rear heated seats have been added to the Cold Weather package. For those who select the Convenience package, a HomeLink transmitter and outside auto dimming mirrors have been added to this package.

A6: A new definition of prestige in luxury

Designed for life — which one is right for you

When Audi designers began work on the A6 sedan, they arrived at the question "Must a sedan look like a sedan?" Their answer was to design a sedan with the style and elegance of a coupe. An eye-catching curvaceous whole that pushes interior space farther than ever while cheating the wind with an impressively low .28 drag coefficient.

From its striking front end, the A6 sedan is instantly recognizable as a full-fledged member of the Audi family. Its headlights, hood and bumpers blend together to reveal a familiar face while its advanced lighting technology, visible behind clear polycarbonate lenses, give this car a definite gleam in its eye.

The sweeping roofline glides in an arc from hood to trunk defining an interior space that, compared to the previous A6, offers increased volume (+6.6 cu. ft.) with increased headroom (+1.2 inches front and +.3 inches rear) and rear legroom (+2.1 inches). With its flush-mounted bumpers and body-colored exterior accents, nothing interrupts the A6's clean, precise lines.

Taking its cue from the stunning Audi TT sports car, the rear of the A6 gives the car a breathtaking finish. A combination of distinct lines, smooth surfaces and three-dimensional rear lights make the A6 unmistakable and give it class-leading trunk volume (17.2 cu. ft.) in a stylish package.

Striking design, however, does not preclude advancements made beneath the skin of a car. Utilizing a special body assembly process, the torsional rigidity of the A6 has increased an impressive 50 percent and exterior body seam gaps have been reduced 33 percent (to just 3.0 mm) over the previous generation. Even the connection with the road, Audi's revolutionary four-link front suspension, has been further advanced from its earlier applications in the A4 and A8. All of these changes result in a car with superior driving dynamics and ride comfort. Clearly the beauty of the daring A6 sedan is more than skin deep.

With its trendsetting design and its advanced features, the 1999 Audi A6 Avant takes the meaning of Avant further than ever before. In this, its fourth generation, the new A6 Avant delivers on Audi's slogan: beautiful wagons are called Avant.

The Audi A6 Avant has achieved its own highly distinctive style, although it is derived from the sedan platform. The elegant yet efficient silhouette of the A6 Avant is a result of the interplay between familiar design elements originally found in the sedan and the supreme style in which the designers have dealt with the wagon's body surfaces and curves. The dominant rear end, exciting contours and distinctive lines service simultaneously to strengthen the Avant's visual appeal while they achieve a high degree of product identification.

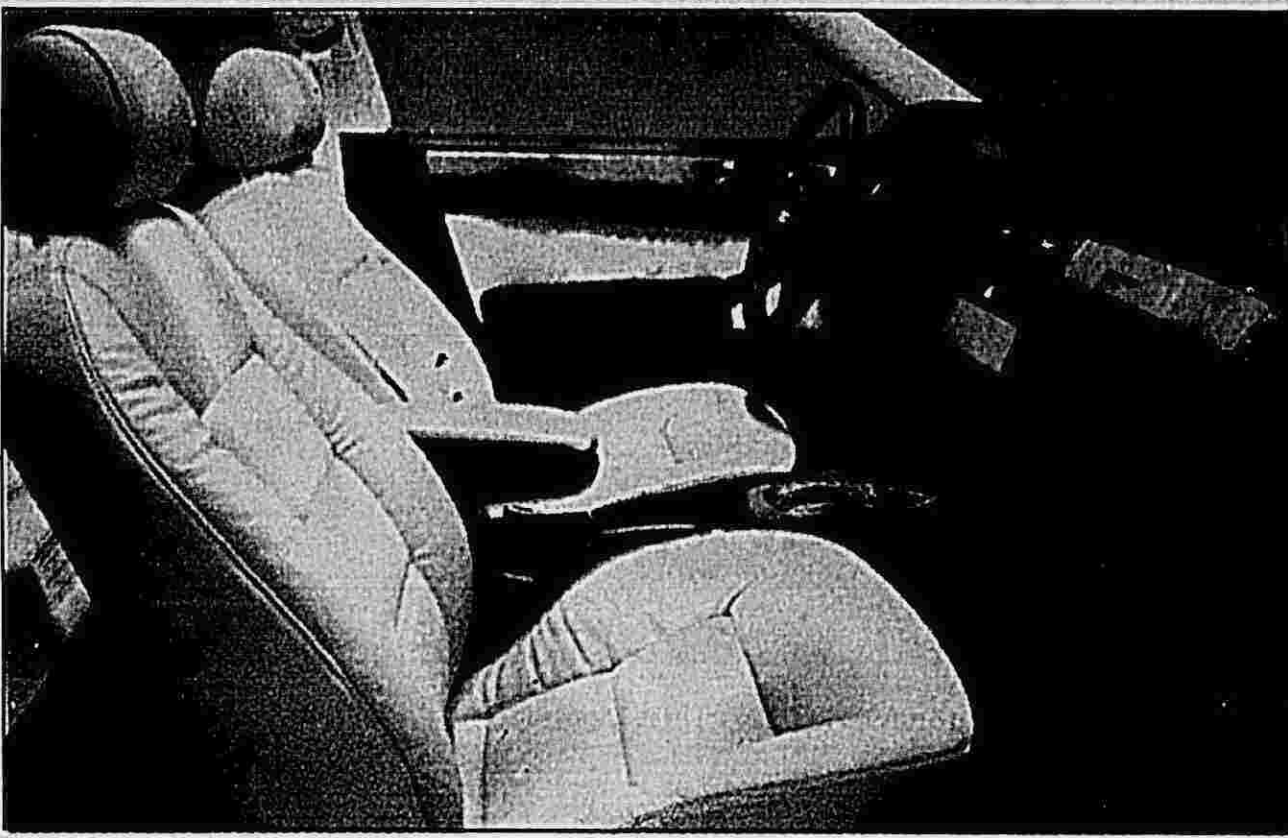

The Avant's design is particularly notable for its dynamic side view. A gently rising window line, black center roof posts and bold wheel arches serve to emphasize its innate energy. The A6 Avant skillfully assimilates the daring, innovative design aspects of the A6 sedan, such as the unmistakable Audi face or front end, while continuing the trendsetting design tradition of the Avants that have come fore.

The all new A6 Avant decisively lays claim to the fact that Audi alone builds large, luxury wagons that are as aesthetically and technically appealing as they are versatile. With its luxury touring sedan foundation and its spacious, adaptable luggage area, Audi views the A6 Avant as the most desirable expression of design, performance and versatility available in the market. It is a luxury touring wagon ideal for people who are attracted by the concept, image and versatility of traditional SUV's, but who would never want to compromise their desire for style, comfort, and exuberant driving with an SUV or ordinary station wagon.

Personalized Luxury

In both A6s, Audi takes the concept of personal luxury to an all-new level. Audi is the first non-custom automobile manufacturer to offer buyers, at no extra cost, the opportunity to select an entire interior environment for their car to match their own personal style, not simply an interior color. Called "Atmospheres," Audi's three distinct environments are named Ambition, Ambiente, and Advance. Each atmosphere surrounds its occupants with a distinctly different character - distinguished by the texture and appearance of the seat upholstery, the color and type of genuine wood and aluminum trim, and even the sew pattern of the upholstery. Ambition evokes memories of classic touring sedans with its rich, dark walnut wood trim and classic, muted colors. Ambiente is more Mediterranean in feel with its fine supple materials, lighter sycamore wood trim and bolder colors. Advance brings out the natural side of either A6's character with silkmatted walnut wood trim and soft upholstery in warm, earth tones.

Dealer builds community with mobile donation

Many businesses talk about helping to "build the community." Ray Chevrolet in Fox Lake is doing just that...literally.

The dealership recently donated a 1986 Chevy C1500 pick-up to the local Habitat for Humanity branch. The vehicle will be used primarily for hauling workers and materials from the organization's warehouse on Sheridan Rd. in Waukegan to the various building sites on south side of Waukegan and surrounding communities.

"Habitat for Humanity's goal is to build houses for families who work hard, but don't have a high enough income to acquire a loan from conventional lending institutions," said Julie Donovan, executive director of the program. "The families invest $500 worth of 'sweat labor,' then buy the house from Habitat. In order to be able to offer the families quality housing at a reduced cost, we depend on donations of both time and money from local residents and businesses." Donovan continued that, "With Ray Chevrolet's donation of a pick-up truck, we hope to make the program that is much more effective.

"It all came about when one of Habitat's construction supervisors came in to purchase a vehicle for his family," said Ray Scarpelli, dealership principal. "While talking with one of our salespeople, he happened to inquire about a donation. We're very happy that he did. This is a great opportunity for us to really contribute to the community and help families get a step ahead."

According to Donovan, the truck is exactly what the organization was hoping for. Many of the volunteers drive smaller vehicles incapable of hauling the building materials, generators and large numbers of tools needed for construction.

For more information on Habitat For Humanity's activities in your area, or to make a charitable donation, contact Julie Donovan, executive director, at 847-623-1020. Offices are located at 315 North Utica in Waukegan, and are open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily.

The culinary art of sushi

Gurnee chef brings traditional Japanese fare to the American table

'I look around and can tell by the expressions on my customers' faces whether they like it or not'

John Lim stands behind the sushi bar of his Gurnee restaurant, Hayashi Japanese, where he has perfected the art of preparing sushi.—Photos by Sandy Bressner

The first thing patrons hear as they walk into Hayashi Japanese Restaurant is a friendly "Irasamase" (welcome) from owner John Lim, standing behind the sushi bar. While the methodical preparation of sushi keeps him busy, he keeps a vigilant eye on the customers of his 45-seat restaurant in Gurnee.

Those sitting around the sushi bar can watch him skillfully wrap a ribbon of dried seaweed around a clump of rice and a slice of raw fish to complete a piece of sushi in four seconds. But what appears to be easy, took years to perfect.

Lim grew up in Korea and moved to the United States in 1990. The Gurnee resident apprenticed under a Japanese sushi chef at a restaurant in Barrington for five years prior to opening his own at 6641 Grand Avenue in June of last year.

In Barrington, Lim started out by preparing meals in the restaurant's kitchen. It took more than a year before he had learned enough to stand behind the sushi bar with his teacher.

"Ninety percent of the work is cutting and cleaning," said Lim. "You must be skilled in using a knife. You must also always keep everything clean and the fish fresh."

Lim said the fish are delivered to his restaurant three times a week and can't be kept for longer than two days. He offers fresh water eel, squid, conch, cherry clams, octopus, seabass, halibut, cooked shrimp, smoked salmon, mackerel, crab meat and salmon eggs.

"For newcomers I recommend cooked sushi or maki rolls," he said.

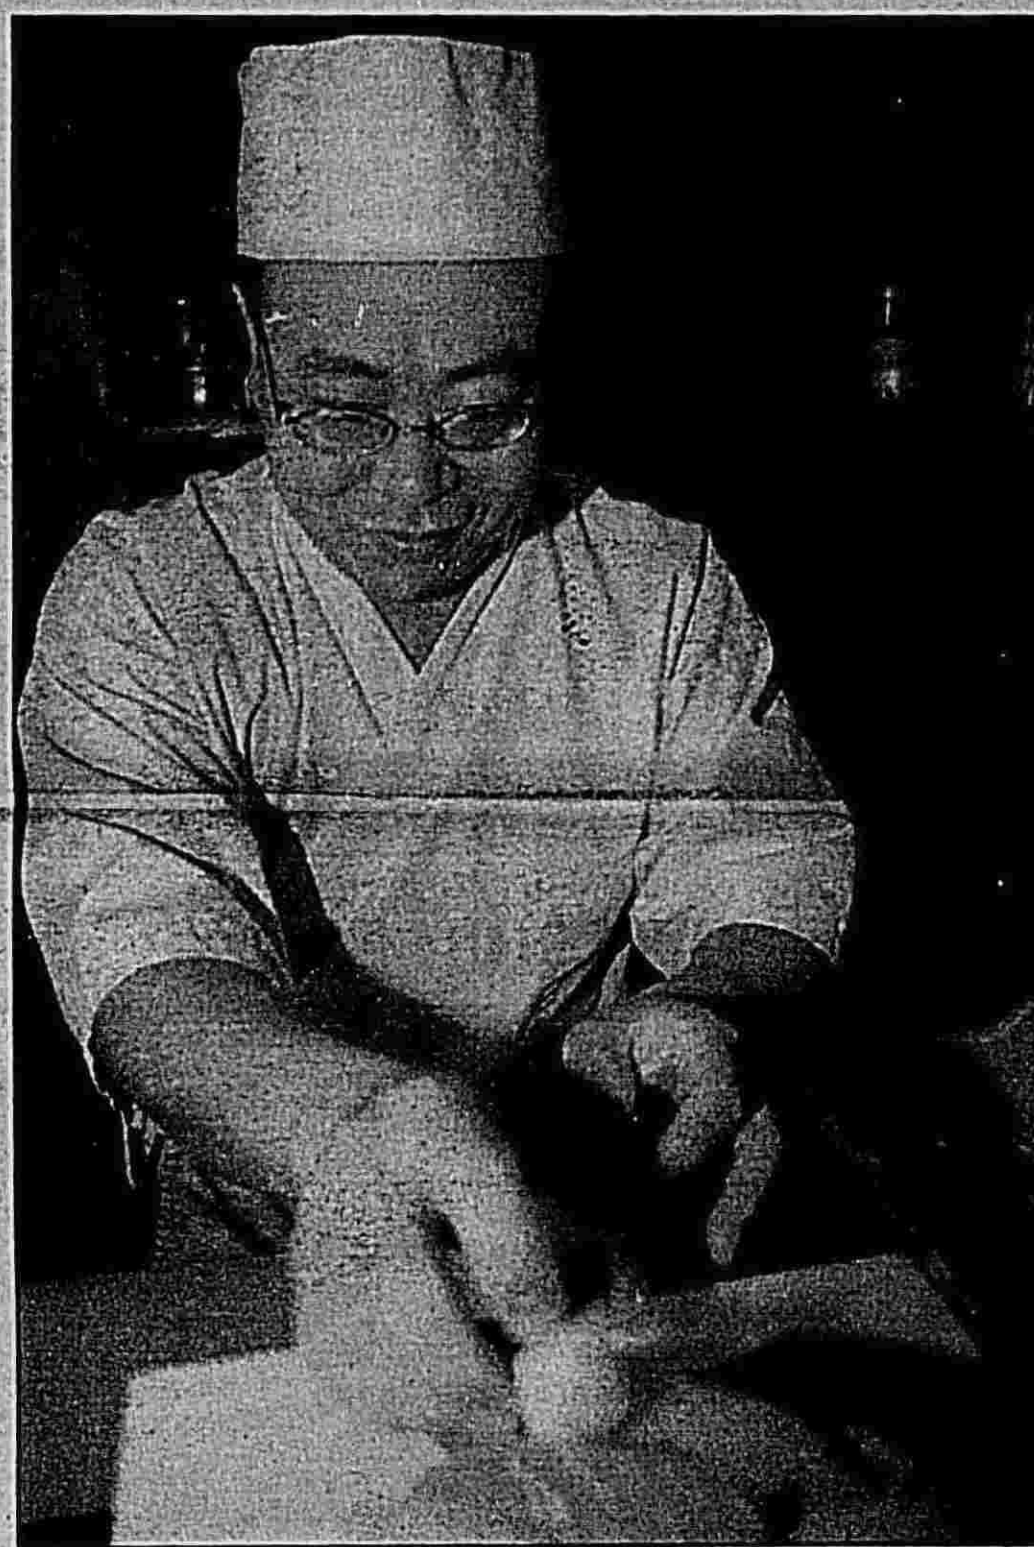

He offers 20 different kinds of maki rolls, which are partially cooked slices of fish and rice wrapped in dried seaweed. Popular maki items include California-maki (avocado, crab and cucumber) and Ebiku-maki (shrimp, cucumber and Japanese mayonnaise).

The rice Lim uses is not plain, but "sticky rice." It is made with vinegar, sugar, salt and a little water. "Every restaurant has its own secret combination," said Lim.

In making a piece of sushi, the rice must be the perfect consistency to form into a small clump. "If too much water is added you break up the rice, if too little, the rice won't stick," said Lim.

Sushi is a delight to the eye. The typical dish is presented on a block of wood with ginger and wasabi (Japanese horseradish). Patrons mix the wasabi into a bowl of soy sauce, and dip the sushi into the sauce using chop sticks.

Paper-thin slices of cucumbers and other vegetables, designed into flower-like shapes, complement the sushi. The cutting of the vegetables particularly requires skill. The cucumber, for example, is cut so thin that it is practically translucent.

"Sushi is no good if it is prepared in advance," said Lim. "Each piece needs to be prepared fresh."

Lim goes through about 120 pounds of fish each week. He said the tuna and salmon sushi are favorites among his customers. The octopus and eel are the least popular.

"I look around and can tell by the expressions on my customers' faces whether they like it or not," said Lim. His own favorites are tuna, eel, shrimp and mackerel.

Another Japanese dish that incorporates raw fish is sashimi. Sashimi consists of cuts of raw fish garnished with shavings of white radish. The rice is served separately.

While many Westerners who have never tasted raw fish assume it will have a 'fishy' flavor, sushi and sashimi do not have a strong odor or flavor because only the choicest portions of the freshest fish are used. The texture is like tender beef filet.

"Japanese food is very low calorie and healthy," said Lim.

For his less-adventurous customers, Lim offers a wide variety of traditional Japanese dishes. The menu includes steak, chicken or salmon teriyaki, vegetable or shrimp tempura, broiled chicken and beef shogayaki (sliced beef with ginger sake sauce and vegetables). A wide variety of appetizers, from egg rolls to pan fried dumplings, are also available.

During a Saturday night at the Hayashi, tables are crowded with couples and families, and the sushi bar is full. Quite a number of customers have ordered sushi. Others are sampling the more mainstream teriyaki and tempura dishes.

"I hope everyone tries sushi," said Lim.

Given the proliferation of sushi bars in the United States, perhaps one day soon, everyone will.

Book dramatist presents new programs for 'Girls Night Out'

The Center For Enriched Living's (CEL) Auxiliary Board presents Barbara Rinella, the exciting book dramatist, who brings best sellers to life as part of its 'Girls Night Out' series.

All girlfriends and their friends are invited to experience Rinella, as she becomes famous Hollywood Golden age sirens, while reviewing the raved-about new book The Power of Glamour.

Barbara Rinella

Rinella's exciting dramatic portrayal of these divas will take place at Pops in Highwood, Wednesday evening, April 14.

Tickets are $35 for CEL Auxiliary members and $40 for non-members.

The Center for Enriched Living is located at 1321 Wilmet Rd., Deerfield 60015. For further information please call the center at 948-7001.

Barrington to hold third annual community-wide Treasure Sale

The Barrington Area Historical Society is sponsoring the Third Annual Barrington Community Treasure Sale. The sale will be held from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, April 17th on the grounds of Good Shepherd Hospital - Advocate, at 450 West Highway 22 in Barrington.

"As with last year's event, we've invited all Barrington Area not-for-profit groups, clubs and civic organizations to participate," says event Chair John Hipsky. "We had a great turnout — both buyers and sellers — last year, and this year will be even bigger. We feel that this is the type of old-fashioned neighborly event that makes Barrington a unique community."

The egg people made me do it

Many women fear the winds of change. No, wait — that's the Republicans. What I meant to say is that many women fear going through "the change", also known as menopause. Well, not me. I say, "Bring it on now — and hurry!"

Why? Because I am hoping that, "In a flash," it brings to an end this never-ending hormonal urge I have to acquire babies to mother.

Actually, I thought I had solved the problem surgically five years ago, when I said to my gynecologist, "Here is your mission, should you be willing to accept it: Travel to the planet Fallopian, locate the egg people, and destroy their escape route forever!" She looked at me strangely, until I showed her proof of insurance.

Unfortunately, I should have told her to destroy the whole planet, because it was only a matter of time before the egg people started sending out those mind-control messages again, cleverly disguised as hormones: "Donna... Donna Abear... something's just not right. Your life is incomplete now that everyone in your family sleeps through the night and knows how to use a toilet."

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

At first, I ignored the messages. After all, the egg people could talk all they wanted. They weren't ever getting out.

But the egg people are devious. So they changed their message. They started sending a new one: "Some babies have more than two legs..."

Suddenly, I found myself inexplicably seized by the urge to get another dog. Not just any dog, of course. A PUPPY. A not-yet-toilet-trained puppy. A whine-in-the-night puppy. When the urge first came upon me, I tried to fight it. But it wasn't long before I found myself wandering into pet shops all over Lake County, as if in a trance.

"SHOW ME THE PUPPIES," I'd tell the shop owners. It didn't help that my daughter was right beside me, "egging" me on. "PUPPY! PUPPY! I WANT A BABY PUPPY!"

The urge soon became so strong, that I knew it was time to have a serious talk with my husband. He had to know the truth.

"It's like this, honey," I told my husband. "Foxy needs another dog."

My husband looked at me as though I had just grown a third eye.

"What are you telling me — we need to buy a PET for our DOG?"

That was exactly what I was trying to tell him. C'mon, folks, what did you expect me to say, "Honey, the egg people are making me want a puppy?" He would have laughed right in my face, just like I do to him when he tells me every spring, "The fish are calling me."

Besides, it was partly true. We had adopted Foxy at age three, and in her previous home, she had several other dogs to play with.

"That's what I'm trying to tell you, dear. Really, you should see the poor thing. Whenever I take her for a walk, she whines pitifully every time she sees another dog." "Big deal," he answered. "She whines when she has to go out, too. Does that mean we have to buy Foxy her own toilet?"

I could see that I was not talking to a person who had ever experienced mind-control by the egg people. So I called one of my girlfriends. "What would you think if I told you I'm considering getting a second dog?"

"I'd think maybe you should just call Dr. Kevorkian now and put yourself out of your misery."

Oops. Wrong girlfriend. She is only mind-controlled by the shopping people.

I started to call another girlfriend, but then I stopped. Why bother? After all, I'm a grown woman. I can make my own decisions. No one tells me what to do.

"Donna... Donna Abear... some babies have more than two legs..."

NEXT WEEK'S COLUMN: HE AIN'T NOTHIN' BUT A HOUND DOG.

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

Camp alternatives at Dancenter North

As the months go by, the end of school is in sight, and parents are in search of summer fun for their children. Traditional, recreational camps are always a favorite, and sports camps are popular each year, but Dancenter North of Libertyville, Illinois provides an alternative to traditional summer camp life.

Dancenter North offers programs in the performing arts for ages 2 to adult during the months of June and July. One of its well known programs is its dance camp for girls entering grades first through fifth, who want to spend their summer participating in ballet, jazz, tap, swing, pom-poms and singing; as well as outdoor activities and games. Campers also participate in a performance finale and a party in their honor. Post Cards from Dance Camp - A Vacation Experience will be offered June 15-29 and Dance Camp Swings With The Fabulous 40's will be offered July 6-20. Both three-week sessions are on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m.

For the younger children, Dancenter North offers a number of programs including Pre-School Dance

Camp for four and five year olds, on Mondays from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Campers will have fun with creative ballet movement accompanied by several games, crafts and entertainment.

Kindergarteners have two new programs to choose from, introducing them to the joy of the performing arts: "3 for 1 Kindergarten Workshop" is offered for children entering or exiting kindergarten.

For boys and girls entering grades 2 through 4 interested in tap and jazz, Dancenter North will hold a "Beginners' Tap and Jazz Workshop" Monday afternoons from 4:30 until 6 p.m.

Also offered will be "Mommy and Me" classes, Junior Ballet Workshop, Ballet Intensive, Musical Theatre "Summer Stock," and the Great Drama Workshop. Dancenter North will also feature the Joel Hall Urban Jazz Performance Workshop on Tuesday evenings and the Master Tap Series on Thursday evenings. For a full summer schedule, please call Dancenter North at 847-367-7970. Dancenter North is located at 540 North Milwaukee Avenue in the heart of downtown Libertyville.

Square Dancers hosts Easter Dance

Buoys and Belles Square Dance Club is hosting a Easter Bonnet Parade Dance, at First United Methodist Church, 128 N. Utica Street, Waukegan. Caller will be Jody Serlick. It will be held on Friday, April 2. Plus Workshop 8:00-8:30pm; Main Stream 8:30-

10:03pm; Plus Tip at 10:30pm. Cost is $3.50 per person. Use west parking lot rear door, downstairs to Fellowship Hall. All modern western square dancers in the area are invited. Light refreshments will be served. Call 362-0130 or 566-0196 for more information.

'Ol-Bla-Dee' simply eloquent

"Ol-Bla-Dee," Regina Taylor's eloquent, spirited new play premiering at Chicago's Goodman Theatre, gives a voice to black women jazz performers of the 40's, a group largely overshadowed by time.

Set in the fall of 1946 on the heels of World War II, this drama follows Gin Del Sol, a sax and trumpet player who has traveled to St. Louis to team up with Evelyn Waters and the Diviners, an all-female bebop combo. Her teammates include Lu, a sassy drummer who often turns to drink and drugs for inspiration; Ruby, a bass player who gave up home and family for her love of music, and the insistent Evelyn, a recognized pianist whose past successes lend credibility to the group.

Shorty, the faithful manager, guides the entourage toward Chicago-bound for a club date and potential recording contract. But it's a long, bumpy road—filled with twists and turns, including the unexpected appearance of an old lover. And a tragic conclusion.

On an upper deck, there's a one-woman chorus of sorts in the form of Sabrina Le Beauf, whose occasional dance movements provide a nice, though sometimes distracting, counterpoint to the action below.

Caroline Clay, in a sensitive portrayal of Gin, is at one with the music, quoting the poetic imagery of her father, "The horns are your wings. They'll take you to the edge of the Earth and you'll fall off or fly."

Margo Moor, as the drummer, puts on a free-wheeling spin; Cheryl Lynn Bruce wows as the bass, while Jacqueline Williams (as Evelyn Waters) and Ernst Perry (as Shorty) give knockout performances. The group does a good job of miming the original music composed by Coleridge-Taylor Perkinson.

"Oo-Bla-Dee," co-directed by Taylor and Susan V. Booth, will run through April 17. Ticket information is available at 312/443-3800. — By Tom Witom

Making Results In Your Area

HOROSCOPE

Aries — March 21/April 20

When it comes to a family decision this week, you can't think just about yourself. You're not the only person who will be affected by this. Consider the toll your choice will take on everyone involved, and then decide. A close friend needs your help with a problem at work. Offer your advice, but don't get too involved.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Keep a positive attitude when it comes to work, Taurus. There are a lot of rumors going around, but don't believe everything that you hear. Talk to reliable sources, and try to find out what's really going on. A loved one is feeling down in the dumps. Do what you can to cheer him or her up.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

"What are you talking about?" You'll find yourself asking this question a lot during the week. Friends and loved ones keep turning to you with irrational questions. Don't get frustrated; just try to help them understand what's going on. Leo plays an important role late in the week.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

A business accomplishment puts you in the spotlight at work. Don't shy away from the attention. You should be proud of what you've done. Your superiors are impressed with your efforts. That special someone is angered by something that you do late in the week. Try to make him or her understand your motivation.

Leo — July 23/August 23

Don't be taken in by an acquaintance's sweet talk. He or she is trying to get you to do something that you normally wouldn't do. Don't fall for his or her tricks. Stand up for what you believe in. A good friend shares a secret with you. Keep it to yourself, because it's not your place to tell anyone.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

Don't be nervous about an important meeting this week, Virgo. You are more than capable of handling the situation and coming out on top. Loved ones offer their help with a personal matter. Say yes. You know that you can't handle this on your own.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

While you would prefer to be alone this week, you don't have that option. Co-workers get you involved in a difficult problem at work, and loved ones monopolize your time at home. Help everyone out, and do what they need you to do. Don't get frustrated — you'll have plenty of time to yourself soon.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't try to monopolize that special someone's time this week. He or she has a lot to do and can't be spending every minute with you. Don't get nervous. His or her feelings for you haven't changed at all. You're still the one. A family member asks for your help with a financial matter. Do what you can for him or her.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

You really stick your foot in your mouth when talking with a loved one early in the week, Sagittarius. Don't get upset with yourself. Just explain what you really meant to say. He or she will understand. A close friend invites you out. While you don't want to go, say yes. You're sure to have a good time.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

Try to keep a stiff upper lip when someone whom you respect is upset with you. While some harsh words may be said, he or she really has your best interest at heart. Try to remember that. That special someone has a surprise for you. Enjoy!

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't just stand by and watch a close friend make a bad decision this week, Aquarius. Try to make him or her better understand the situation. While this person may be angry at first, he or she will be glad that you got involved. Gemini plays a key role late in the week.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

An acquaintance turns to you for help with a family problem. While you want to help, don't get involved. You don't know enough about the situation to give him or her sound advice. A loved one takes you out for a night on the town. Enjoy yourself!

Holistic wellness workshop set

"Transitions," a workshop focused on holistic wellness, will take place at Gorton Community Center, 400 east Illinois Road, Lake Forest on Thursday, April 8 from 7-10 p.m. The fee is $40.

The class will explore ways of addressing periods of transition in life with minimal stress, thus reducing its negative effects. Even positive transitions can cause stress. The class will employ many methods to approach transition in a positive light including journaling, color, meditation, and other modalities right at your fingertips. Dinatha Harris and Susan Tillet, of Life Potentials Network, are trained in holistic wellness techniques including Healing Touch, Reiki, and Intuition.

Interested participants should register and pay in advance. For further information call the Gorton office at 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

SPECIAL EVENT

Home and Trade Show

The Zion Park District is pleased to announce that it will hold its twenty-second annual home and trade show on April 9-11, 1999 at the Zion Leisure Center. The Home and Trade Show involves over 90 exhibitors of home improvement related products and services, the majority of which are based in Lake County.

This year's Home & Trade Show will feature a variety of entertainment presentations; which include music, variety acts, and demonstrations.

Another feature of the Home & Trade Show is the awarding of door prizes valued at over $5,000. Prizes, donated by exhibitors participating in the Show and the Zion Park District, are awarded throughout the three-day show. Home electronics, gift certificates, small appliances, and vacation trips are awarded. The grand prize of the show is a vacation trip for two.

To find out more about how you and your business or organization can participate in the 1999 Zion Park District Home & Trade Show, please call the Zion Park District at 746-5500.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Award winning band to appear at Flatlander's

The Scott E. Berendt and The Us Project band recognized for outstanding musical talent will appear at 9 p.m. Saturday, April 10 in Flatlander's Restaurant and Brewery, Lincolnshire.

Tim Lukoski, director of operations Flatlander's, said the eight member band performing contemporary pop/rock in the style of Peter Dinklage, was nominated by the Los Angeles Music Awards for having the best video by an unsigned band.

He said Berendt was nominated this year by the Wisconsin Area Music Industry as songwriter of the year and the band for the best album. The album, called Albion Moon, shows the outstanding talent of Berendt as songwriter and performer.

Berendt last year won the WAMI award presented by the Wisconsin organization as percussionist of the year.

This will be the first appearance of the four year old group in Lake County. The band last year played at Navy Pier, and has appeared at the historic Whisky A Go-Go in Hollywood, the MGM Grand in Las Vegas and as an opening act for Eddie Money in Thousand Oaks, California.

The band with its dramatic style of music often provides the feel that their performance actually is an event with a large cast. Berendt in developing his talent and technical ability played both rock and jazz.

Flatlander's is a 15,000-square-foot family restaurant and world recognized micro brewery located on Route 45 east of Milwaukee Avenue at Old Half Day Road in north suburban Lincolnshire. For more information call 821-1234.

'Much Ado About Nothing' opens April 9 at PM&L

Much Ado About Nothing by William Shakespeare is celebrating its 400th birthday at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main St., Antioch, this April. Opening night is Friday, April 9 at 8 p.m. with the following dates on April 10, 16, 17, 23, and 24 at 8 p.m. and April 11, 18, and 25 at 2:30 p.m.

Reservations can be made by call 395-3055 or by coming to the box office. Box office hours are Monday-Thursday 5:30-7:30 p.m., Saturday 11 a.m.-2 p.m., and 1 1/2 hours before curtain time on show dates. Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and seniors. As a special promotion to students and teachers, there are special performances on Thursday nights April 8, 15, and 22 for $5 with a school ID card. There will be a "talk back" after these performances. If any teacher would like to have retired drama teachers Tom Hausman or Ken Smouse come to their classroom to explain the play prior to seeing it call director Hausman at 395-7489.

The story tells about two sets of lovers, Beatrice and Benedict who constantly are in a war of words (Terri Leahy from Antioch and John Franco from Mundelein), and Hero and Claudio, the lovers planning to marry (Esther Scheurer from Lindenhurst and James Hauser from Antioch).

It's also a tale of intrigue spearheaded by villains Don John (Jerod Howard from Fox Lake), Borachio (Larry Bersie from Antioch), and Conrade (Matt Conkrite from Fox Lake).

Comic relief is supplied by Dogberry (Fran Jansta), Seacoal (Gene LaFave), Oatcake (Bob Rogers) all from Antioch, and Verges (Ken Scheske from Salem, WI.).

The governor of Messina, Leonato, who is also Hero's father and Beatrice's uncle (Bruce Weise from Antioch) and Don Pedro, prince of Arragon, (Chuck Lindas from Kenosha, WI.) are also leading characters integral to the plot.

Put these themes into a beautiful garden setting complete with a fountain, and you too will be in love with Shakespeare!

'Forces of Nature' not quite a natural disaster

What could be worse than almost missing your own wedding? Being stranded with no way to get there, and Sandra Bullock trying her hardest to show you a wild time. Actually, that sounds more like every guy's wedding fantasy.

"Forces of Nature" stars Ben Affleck as up-tight New Yorker Ben, who is headed to Savannah, Georgia to wed his fiancé Bridget, played by Maura Tierney. All Ben has to do is get on the plane, and get to the church on time.

While trying to write his wedding vows, Ben notices seatmate Sarah, a beautiful and exuberant free-spirit, played by Sandra Bullock, sneaking a peak at his pathetic attempts.

Emotions that should come easily for Ben, soon turn into needling doubts as every passenger relays his or her nightmarish tales of married life.

In the distance, a storm is brewing, one of the many "weather metaphors" used rather cheesily throughout the film. Nature spreads its wings and well, a big, juicy bird gets sucked right into the plane's engine. All hell breaks loose, and the plane crashes into the big "Welcome to New York" sign. Not a good omen for Ben, who is deathly afraid of flying, and becoming even more afraid of getting married.

Sarah is knocked over the head with Ben's laptop computer and he has to carry her off the plane. Thinking she is forever in his debt, Sarah promises to get them to Savannah no matter what it takes.

Nothing in this film even remotely comes close to reality, which is exactly why it's so charming.

All Ben wants to do is get to Savannah. All Sarah wants is to show Ben that life without adventure and freedom is a death sentence.

Sarah is a "force of nature" who reminds Ben of his first tingly feelings of love for his fiancé, and he cannot escape from her presence without being struck by her delightful electricity.

Trapped together through hail storms, hurricanes, and the 24-hour Super K-Mart, Ben and Sarah make a connection that could definitely cause a rain delay for his nuptials.

This role is hardly a stretch for Bullock, but unlike that forgettable mess, Speed 2: Cruise Control, her good girl/bad girl routine finally pans out with a genuinely sweet and sassy performance that doesn't leave you nauseous.

FORCES OF NATURE

Director
Bronwen Hughes

Starring
Ben Affleck
Sandra Bullock
Maura Tierney

Ben Affleck, who seems to play the same guy in every movie, yet makes millions doing it, was outshined by Bullock in nearly every scene.

His "should I or shouldn't I" response to Bullock's come-hither-ness was ridiculous at times, as if to say all it takes to talk a man out of marriage is a limber-legged tart in leather pants and a ponytail, who knows how to strip dance for money if ever the situation calls for it.

Maura Tierney, who plays fiancé Bridget, also plays clone to "Friends" star Jennifer Aniston, but then again, without Brad, who is she anyway?

Rounding out the cast is late actor, David Strickland, as Bridget's ex-boyfriend who's still in love with her, and Blythe Danner as her well-meaning mother.

Forces of Nature was able to grab the number one spot at the box office, and although it was a well-orchestrated romantic comedy, it never dug deeper than mischievous glances and wishful thinking. For this, I give Forces of Nature three popcorn boxes out of five. Needs more butter!

Dance theatre to perform at Earth Day Festival

Phoenix Dance Theatre will honor the union of the spiritual and the sensual in a creative dance process on the main stage at "Voices of the Earth: A Celebration of Earth Day '99" April 25, noon to 5 p.m., Resurrection Center, 2710 S. Country Club Road, Woodstock.

Britt Suzanne Posner, the group's Artistic Director, has spent her professional career dancing for Ballet Chicago, Ballet Theatre of Chicago, and Lexington Ballet. She choreographs and performs as a way of reconciling her love of dance with deep spiritual commitment and vision of human potential.

Other main stage performances include recording artist Kathy Sherman, storytelling with Jean Bad Moccasin, and community drumming led by Helen Bond. "Pawnee Skies" a cosmological presentation by Eric Carlson will provide an audio/visual trip through the Universe.

217 Center St., in Grayslake

Telephone:
(847) 548-7130

Hours:
Starting in April, from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, and from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Sunday.

Menu:
Chicago Style Hot Dogs, charburgers, turkey and veggie burgers, homemade chili and much more! Michael's also features a selection of milk shakes and ice cream.

Michael's style is red hot

You wouldn't put ketchup on a Chicago Style Hot Dog and neither would Michael's Chicago Style Red Hot, located at 217 Center Street in downtown Grayslake. Michael's serves the all American hot dog, the way it was meant to be - "Chicago style." Michael's takes an all-beef wiener made with a natural casing, pops it into a steamed poppy seed bun, and garnishes it with mustard, relish, onions, pickles, hot peppers, tomatoes and celery salt.

Grayslake resident Richard Cohen, who was associated with the original Michael's, started 20 years ago in Highland Park, has brought the Chicago Style Hot Dog, one of the city's most famous culinary exports, to Lake County, making it another in a small chain that includes a location in Buffalo Grove.

Cohen welcomes his customers in a hometown atmosphere filled with Grayslake photos and antiques, where they can dine in, or take advantage of Michael's long list of take-out favorites.

Since the hot dog is as American as the hamburger, Michael's also offers scrumptious charburgers, plus veggie and turkey burgers for those who want to eat well and healthy.

A delicious chicken breast sandwich or a spicy Italian beef sandwich, as well as delectable homemade chili and fresh hand-cut french fries are popular additions to Michael's outstanding menu. For a truly unique sandwich try Michael's newest menu addition, the grilled tuna steak.

Michael's is open from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day but Sunday when the hours are 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Starting in April, the daily hours will be expanded to 9 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Sunday. Call (847) 548-7130 for more information.

Editor's note: In a feature on Michael's appearing in the March 26th edition, ketchup was included on the Chicago Style Hot Dog. Michael's serves the world-famous Chicago Style hot dog, without ketchup.

Care and maintenance of the living soil

Throughout the 1950s a dramatic change was taking place in the field of turf grass management. It was the beginning of the "chemical age." Chemical fertilizers were replacing animal manure and human sewage. Chemical pesticides were being introduced to kill and control weeds, insects, diseases and other pests. Whatever the problem, a chemical was developed to cure and control it. New and different types of chemicals came on the market at such a rapid rate that hardly anyone knew how to use them to obtain the desired results. This lack of knowledge led to misuse creating damage and lawn stress.

As more chemical combinations were being used more frequently, additional problems would develop. A "snowball" effect of more chemicals was beginning. Through research in 1957 many discoveries were made and much was learned about nature's rhythm, timing, and her methods of improving soils. The critical role of soil micro-organisms regarding their function in groups on different materials has provided solutions to many lawn problems. Many secrets were uncovered, especially an all important one that allows the growth of weed-free grass. A living soil will produce healthier disease resistant plants versus a "dead soil" which has lost many micro-organisms, bacteria, enzymes, fungi and protozoa due to over application of herbicides and pesticides. A Living Soil contains billions of essential soil microorganisms of various kinds that perform functions necessary for optimum plant growth. If soil conditions are managed properly these microbes can live and work in balance with nature. A living soil will complement and improve your lawn program in the following ways:

1. Decompose organic material
2. Retain nutrients
3. Utilize nutrients
4. Regulate plant growth
5. Form soil aggregates and organic complexes
6. Clean up herbicides and pesticides

Decompose Organic Material Thatch in a lawn is organic material (surface roots) that should decay and return to the soil. Certain species of fungi and bacteria are the "decomposers." This decayed organic material becomes the food or fuel that feeds other organisms to complete their function. Retain Nutrients The unused nitrogen in the soil is generally lost as "nitrate runoff" and begins to pollute our underground water wells and ponds. Free nitrogen is a protein that the bacteria and fungi gather up in their bodies and multiply. Nitrogen that is stored in this way becomes a bank account for the turf to utilize, as it needs it.

Unfortunately many of these bacteria and fungi have been killed by herbicides and fungicides and are not available for this function. Utilize Nutrients Once the bacteria and fungi retain the nutrients, other organisms are encouraged to feed on them to metabolize (digest) the protein (nitrogen) and release it back into the soil as ammonia, which is quickly converted into food for the turf. Regulate Plant Growth Certain species of soil microbes produce hormones and other by-products that stimulate growth and development. These microbes produce growth hormones not found in the plant itself. The same seeds fed the same nutrients will show different rates of growth in a "living soil" versus a "dead soil." Soil Aggregates and Organic Matter An ideal crumb structure composed of clay, silt, sand, and organic matter allows for optimal infiltration of air and water. Clay, silt, and sand from soil aggregates in a biological process under the control of certain species of organisms that produce the "glue" or organic matter to hold them together. It is impossible to form or maintain this ideal structure without these necessary organisms. Soil lacking these organisms will become very compact and tight, causing heavy mat and thatch and a thin sparse lawn.

Clean up Pesticides and Herbicides Soil toxicity as a result of overuse of herbicides and pesticides can be degraded or consumed by certain species of microbes. A healthy soil is able to overcome mismanagement by the homeowner and the service companies. If these organisms are not available in the soil, the build-up of toxins will create a "dead soil" and result in weak turf grass growth. Millennium Lawns, Inc. "Lawn Care of the Future" (www.millenniumlawns.com) has developed a complete supplemental program that replaces these vital organisms to accomplish the specific tasks mentioned.

Problems such as aerating, dethatching, nutrient balancing, disease prevention, and soil detoxification can be as simple as watering your lawn.

Any of these problem-solving products can be used in conjunction with your present fertilization program and the homeowner will have the benefits of a "Living Soil". — Courtesy of Article Resource Association, www.aracopy.com, e-mail: info@aracopy.com

Siding renovation is a smart investment

According to U.S. Census Bureau statistics, expenditures for residential home improvements and repairs are on the rise. The remodeling industry's growth can be attributed to several factors, including the country's aging housing stock, and the home re-sale market, which accounts for approximately 85 percent of all U.S. home sales.

In order to make older homes more attractive to buyers, experts say that renovations, especially to a home's exterior, are a smart investment. "When I take a home buyer to see a home, I have made them aware of its location and price. If the buyer likes the home's exterior, then it's 75 percent sold," explains Betty Davis, a sales associate with Jenny Pruitt & Associates Realtors in Atlanta.

"The way a home's siding looks will help shape a prospective buyer's first impression." Not only is siding replacement advantageous for homeowners planning to sell, it can also be a wise investment for any homeowner with damaged siding. If not repaired, dilapidated siding can result in problems.

For instance, deteriorated siding can allow water to seep into a home, warping windows and doors or staining carpet and furniture. In the most extreme situations, structural damage to the home can be caused by rotting beams and joists. Because siding replacement requires a financial commitment and can be an inconvenience, homeowners will want to make an informed decision about their best replacement option.

After considering the alternatives, a growing number of homeowners are selecting Hardiplank lap siding from James Hardie Building Products as their replacement siding. Due to its leading proprietary fiber-cement technology, Hardiplank siding will not rot, warp, split, buckle or swell if exposed to rain, snow, hail, humidity, heat, salt air or insects. To support these claims, Hardiplank siding is backed with a 50-year limited transferable warranty.

Dana and Tim Palmquist of Devine, Texas, knew they had to replace their home's siding when a hailstorm with wind gusts of 80 miles per hour tore through their town last year. Their home, which was built in 1912, suffered major exterior damage as a result of the storm. Originally sided with wood siding, the house was re-sided with vinyl 15 years ago. Though already warped and buckling away from the wall in some places, the vinyl siding was completely destroyed after the intense hailstorm. When the Palmquists started investigating their siding replacement options, they ruled out vinyl because they wanted a product that would be durable enough to withstand harsh weather. After researching different siding products in the market, they selected Hardiplank siding. They realized that if Hardiplank siding had originally been used, the house would not have needed siding repair after the storm.

"Vinyl siding offers a cosmetic change whereas James Hardie siding is really an exterior renovation product. You're going to do the job right with Hardiplank siding," explained Pat Ekstrum, a partner with Southwest Exteriors, the company that installed the Hardiplank siding on the Palmquist's home. Hardiplank siding has the look and character of wood, yet none of its drawbacks. Unlike wood, it is non-combustible and low maintenance. Hardiplank siding also holds paint two to three times longer than wood lap siding. Hardiplank siding has been installed on more than one million homes in the United States. It was introduced here 10 years ago, and has been performing for more than two decades in Australia, Malaysia and New Zealand.

Maximize social events without maximizing your waistline

Easy tips for healthy entertaining

Entertaining friends or family members often means too much shopping, cooking, anxiety and high-fat foods and too little time and energy to prepare for the big event or maintain healthy eating habits.

"With all the pressures women face today with managing their careers and raising families, the last thing they need to add is stressful entertaining," advises weight management expert Jenny Craig, who practices what she preaches and now offers a weight loss program specifically designed for busy women on-the-go. "Keep get-togethers simple, both in terms of planning and recipes. And if you're trying to maintain your weight, remember that social events are 'people events' - not 'eating events.'"

Here are a few more tips for healthy - and hassle-free - entertaining:

Prepare your grocery list - and do your shopping - on a full stomach. Fill your buffet table with fresh flowers, fruits and vegetables, colored napkins and other interesting decorations instead of fattening chips and dip. If you do serve dip, substitute nonfat sour cream or plain nonfat yogurt for regular sour cream.

Chew sugarless gum while cooking, baking, serving food or while putting leftovers away. And if you can't avoid "tasting" as you cook, use teaspoon for each tasting. During the party, keep yourself busy by talking with your guests, telling jokes, playing games or taking pictures. Or turn up the stereo and dance!

Try this easy, tasty - and nutritious - appetizer from Jenny Craig's newest cookbook, Simple Pleasures: Recipes To Nourish Body and Soul:

Cheddar-Jack Cheese Ball

PREP: 8 MINUTES, CHILL: 2 HOURS

- 1/2 cup Neufchâtel cheese, softened
- 2 tablespoons plain nonfat yogurt
- 1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded reduced-fat Cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded reduced-fat Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 teaspoon minced onion

- 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish
  - 1/2 teaspoon Dijon mustard
  - 1/8 teaspoon ground red pepper
  - 2 tablespoons nutlike cereal nuggets
  - 1 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley
  - 48 fat-free crackers
- Combine Neufchâtel cheese and yogurt, stirring until smooth. Add Cheddar cheese and next 5 ingredients; stir well. Cover and chill at least 2 hours. Shape cheese mixture into a ball. Wrap cheese ball in wax paper and chill.

Combine cereal nuggets and parsley. Roll cheese ball in cereal mixture just before serving. Serve with fat-free crackers. Yield: 1 cup. Per 1 tablespoon spread and 3 crackers: 71 calories and 3 grams of fat

Spin Cycling takes the edge off boredom

One of the newest fitness 'crazes' to hit the area is Spin Cycling. If you are wondering what this Spin Cycling is all about, know right away that it has nothing to do with the laundry! To take the words right out of a document printed by the American Council on Exercise, "Some call it torturous, other exhilarating. But there's no denying its popularity."

Stationary cycling can become boring. Spin cycling is so 'busy', that boring is impossible. Visual imagery, provided by the instructor, leads the participant on a 'virtual' road race complete with hills, valleys, straight-aways and finish lines. Upbeat music accompanies your 'trip'. It is not essential to be in shape for this workout. You can take it at your own pace. And you need to bring a water bottle! The class instructors will prepare you for your first adventure.

Among the tips and information given to make the 'ride' a pleasant and beneficial one, include wearing bike shorts, preferably padded. Also, the seat height is crucial. If the seat is too low, you won't be able to get enough leg extension on the downstroke. If it's too high, you'll be straining to reach and could injure yourself. This is not something to do without guidance! Even gripping the handlebars too tightly would increase the tension in your neck and shoulders. Spin Cycling is so popular, that reservations need to be made.

If you're looking for a new and different place to do the Spin Cycling and more, you'll probably want to check out the 'elite exercise studios' at 410 Peterson Rd. in Libertyville. The newly remodeled location features one big studio featuring mirrored walls and large windows, a spin cycle room, a personal training studio, a child-care room, and men's and women's locker rooms with showers, towels, blow dryers, and more!

"This isn't a membership club," said owner Mary Albrecht, proudly. In fact, it's not a health club at all. That just wouldn't fit in with her philosophy. Rather, it's set up as specialized studios with drop-in privileges for many types of classes. Mary makes it very clear that although she is a personal trainer, what is being offered at 'elite' is more than a work-out. She has been in the fitness field for many years, and is turned off by contracts, and commitments that end up with people losing interest and their investments. Her thought is to give individuals opportunities to participate in different kinds of high quality classes at 'drop-in' fees, with a great deal of personalized information on nutrition, exercise, and weight-training.

Some of the classes at 'elite' include Spin Cycling, Kickboxing, Boot Camp, Multi-Step, Yoga and Pilates. Kickboxing is non-contact boxing and karate put in aerobics form, similar to Tae Bo. Boot Camp is high intensity military training drills. Pilates is a combination of Yoga and Tai Chi. The day begins early 6 a.m. and ends after 9 p.m.

Mary, who has always lived in the Libertyville area, has a mission statement that tells a great deal about who and what she is. It is "to make a difference in the quality of life for men and women, with caring, dedicated, elite fitness professionals leading the way to better health. We hope to help instill a strong belief in the power of exercise over our very existence; because a fit life is a life well lived." In addition, when asked about why her 'studio' is different from most of the others, she quickly replied that individuals will get more attention, more intensity, more expertise, more privacy. "Because classes and personal training is all we do, we do it very well." Her thought is that to succeed, the people need to come back, so the instructors try harder to give incentives, to know each person by name, and to give quality instruction. "This should be a place where an individual can make goals, reach them, and be successful. We are making it affordable, with no financial risks." Elite is open seven days a week, with 19 instructors and 10 employees. Call 'elite' for further information at 367-0800—By Marlene Brown

Victory offers wide range of community services

To meet the changing needs of Lake County residents, Victory Memorial Hospital has developed a wide range of specialized programs and classes. To receive information on all the services offered through Victory, call the Community Relations Department at 360-4246 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Some of the special services offered are: "Asthma Awareness" provides individual sessions with a trained respiratory therapist. Together, the therapist and patient learn about what triggers the disease for that person and how the disease can be managed on a daily basis. Counseling sessions are set according to the patient's schedule. It meets at the hospital, 1324 North Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. For more information regarding this counseling program and fees, call 360-4031.

The "GOAL Group" or "Growing Out of Abusive Lifestyle Group." This program is designed to help female adult survivors of abuse or trauma understand how their current problems relate to their past experiences. Participants also discover what they can do to solve these problems and change their life. The group meets for twelve weeks. It meets at the hospital, 1324 North Sheridan Rd., Waukegan. Call 360-4073 to learn more about the group, its meeting dates and fees.

Infant massage classed offered

"Infant Massage: Loving Touch to Grow On" will be held monthly at Gorton Community Center, 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest. Sessions will be held on the second Tuesday of each month, at $35 per session from 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. The next classes are scheduled for April 13, May 11, June 8, July 13 and Aug. 10. Parents may register for one session, or attend monthly.

Ellen Winick, Nationally Certified Massage Therapist, will lead this instructional course for parents and their babies, newborn through pre-crawling. Parents will learn basic massage techniques and share the healing and bonding power of touch.

It is believed that babies who are massaged sleep better, and are calmer and more alert when awake. Massage stimulates digestion and elimination. It can also reduce the discomfort of teething and colds, and help calm fussy babies. Both normal discomforts and babies' needs to constantly respond to new experiences can lead to muscle tension and unease. Massage can help reduce tension.

Touch is as important as food for health mental and physical development--a fact clearly supported by both ancient tradition and contemporary research. Massage is attentive, pleasurable touch that can promote infants' well-being while parents increase their abilities to respond to their children's needs.

Interested participants should register and pay in advance. For further information, or to receive a program brochure, contact or stop by the Gorton office at 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., weekdays.

A touchy subject for parents

Hi Dr. Singer,

Our 6-year-old daughter is doing something that we aren't sure is a problem or not. She seems to touch herself in her private area a lot. She sometimes does this in front of other people. Is this normal for a kid her age and should we stop it from happening? T.F.

Dear T.F.,

It can be normal and it might not be. I don't mean to be vague. It's just that the particulars of the situation, will tell you more about whether it's normal curiosity or not. Let me talk about the normal side first and then I will talk about some things to be watching for.

Little kids have a natural curiosity about their bodies. They also do not get born with shame about their bodies. They learn that. Therefore, if they haven't learned that shame, touching private areas on their bodies may not set off any kind of warning bells for them. It also feels good to them. To them, it is as natural as going to the bathroom.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

In a normal situation, I would recommend that you don't become hysterical or disgusted about it and do not alarm the child about it. It is definitely an opportunity to set some healthy boundaries though. For example, as long as the touching is within normal limits, you can let the child know that this is something that is done in private, in her room. This way, you have not made her feel dirty about her body and you have not made her afraid, but you have told her that it is not something that we do in front of other people. The calmer you are when discussing this, the better things will be.

Now, if she seems obsessed with it or if it is constant, I would tell you to begin with a visit to the pediatrician to determine if there is anything physical going on there to cause constant attention to the area. If the Doctor finds sexually related infection, you need to investigate whether someone has been sexually inappropriate with the child. This does not mean that every child who touches him or herself has been assaulted, so don't get me wrong on that.

I am saying that if the doctor finds an infection that would be sexually related, you have enough information there to investigate further and should immediately. If that is found to be the case, I recommend immediate counseling so you can proceed with the help of a professional.

Most of the time, this type of behavior is more about a lack of boundaries and kids being very affected by physical sensations. They do not usually think in terms of who is watching them, but how something feels to them.

Good Shepherd Hospital announces grand opening of new $1.2 million breast care center

Building upon its strengths in women's health, Good Shepherd Hospital, Barrington, announced today the grand opening of its new $1.2 million Breast Care Center.

The new center provides coordinated, comprehensive outpatient diagnostic services for women, especially for those at high risk for breast cancer and osteoporosis. The facility is located on the first floor of the main hospital building.

Breast cancer is the most commonly diagnosed cancer at Good Shepherd Hospital. Nationally, it is the most common form of cancer among women. Osteoporosis affects more than 20 million women each year.

"By improving our diagnostic facilities we are better able to meet the needs of our patients and their families by providing more efficient, sophisticated medical care in the same compassionate setting our community has always known," said Russell Feurer, chief executive, Good Shepherd Hospital. "We're very excited and pleased to be able to provide these highly advanced services in such a warm and inviting new location."

This Center's state-of-the-art design improves the coordination of care because the diagnostic services are all located in one convenient location. The result is easier access to services and convenience for patients.

"We understand that these types of outpatient tests may cause anxiety," Feurer said. "That's why we sought input from our patients and why we have created a customer-focused facility with centralized services that is comfortable, private and sensitive to the needs of our patients."

Good Shepherd believes firmly in providing holistic care that addresses the psychological, social as well as the medical needs of the patients it serves. These issues can be especially present in instances of breast cancer and osteoporosis, but with early detection and treatment, outcomes are greatly improved.

The Center is designed to facilitate a multidisciplinary approach to patient care, offering comprehensive care in one convenient and specially designed setting. State-of-the-art services include specialized mammography, stereotactic needle biopsy, ultrasound, and bone density testing as well as focused education relative to these procedures.

"The facility is unique in that all of the diagnostic evaluation is completed in one location--most cases during a single visit," said Radiologist Edwin Willgress, M.D., the center's medical director. "Diagnostic results are interpreted by a physician immediately and discussed with the patient at that time or within 48-hours in most cases. No more waiting days or even weeks for the results. The anxiety of not knowing the screening or test results is greatly reduced."

The patient's primary care or referring physician is also kept closely informed of all developments, added Dr. Willgress. "Should results from this advanced testing require immediate attention, the patient can be immediately linked with Good Shepherd's physicians and allied health professionals in related specialties such as oncology, oncology surgery or radiation oncology," he said.

The facility includes private waiting areas where patients can enjoy the comfort of seclusion while waiting for their test or results. There is also a specially designated consultation room for the medical staff to immediately discuss the findings with patients face-to-face.

For more information about Good Shepherd's Breast Care Center, call HealthAdvisor at 1-800-323-8622. To schedule an appointment, call 847-842-4800.

Good Shepherd Hospital is a leading provider of health and wellness services in the northwest suburbs. It is a 156-bed health care facility and a Level II trauma center with 400 physicians representing more than 35 medical specialties. The hospital is also a state designated Level II birth center. Good Shepherd is part of Advocate is related to both the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and the United Church of Christ.

From soccer balls and in-line skates to leotards and softball jerseys, shopping for children's sports seems endless. To save money and your child's smile, add a mouthguard to your list of things to buy.

Mouthguards, made of soft plastic, are adapted to fit comfortably to the shape of your child's upper teeth. A pediatric dentist can properly fit a mouthguard to prevent dental trauma and more serious (sometimes fatal) head injuries by protecting teeth and reducing the force that can cause concussions, neck injuries and broken jaws. These customized mouthguards may cost a bit more, but children are more likely to wear them as they are more comfortable and more effective in preventing injuries.

A child should wear a mouthguard whenever she is in an activity with a risk of falls or of head contact with other players or equipment. This includes football, baseball, basketball, soccer, hockey, martial arts, skateboarding and even gymnastics. Studies indicate nearly 75 percent of oral trauma in athletes occurs when players are not wearing mouth-guards. More than 200,000 injuries are prevented each year by wearing mouthguards in football alone. The oral injury rate for football players (who are required to wear mouthguards) is lower than all other sports, even women's basketball. Baseball, basketball and soccer are currently lagging behind in injury protection. Although nearly half of sports-related mouth injuries occur in basketball and baseball, mouthguards are not required. Basketball injuries that occur at home are on the rise, experts warn. More teeth are being knocked out from contact with basketball hoops, especially the new adjustable hoops that can be lowered for slam dunking. If your child lowers the hoop to where his face may come in contact with the net or rim, he should wear a mouthguard to prevent injury.

"A properly fitted mouthguard can save a child's tooth and even a child's life. It also can save the family thousands of dollars in dental bills," states Sonia Gutierrez, D.D.S., M.S., Grayslake pediatric dentist.

State-by-state study shows U.S. Health Care System benefits from $196 billion in services from family caregivers

A stunning $196 billion a year is contributed to the U.S. health care system by an "invisible" health care sector -- the family and friends who provide care at home for the chronically ill, according to a new study released by the Alzheimer's Association.

In Illinois, caregivers are providing services worth more than $8.6 billion to long term care. Nationally, the $196 billion total dwarfs the cost of formal home health care ($32 billion) and nursing home care ($83 billion).

"The extraordinary level and pervasiveness of caregiving represents a massive subsidy to the American chronic health care system and to the social welfare of the nation," the authors say. They note that because informal caregiving "lies outside the market economy-- socially and politically invisible -- its economic value is not generally acknowledged."

The new study is the first-ever tabulation of caregivers' contribution on a state-by-state basis. Titled "Economic Value of Informal Caregiving in the United States, by States," the study is an analysis of state data from a national study published in the March/April 1999 issue of "Health Affairs Magazine."

"The Alzheimer's Association is presenting this data to Congress, and will present it to governors and state legislatures to underscore the importance of acting immediately to provide family caregivers the support they need," said Kent Barnheiser, Executive Director of the Alzheimer's Association-- Greater Chicagoland Chapter. The Association is calling on lawmakers to:

- Provide a $1000 federal tax credit for family caregivers.
- Authorize and appropriate $125 million a year to help states and communities expand respite and adult day care and other caregiver support services.
- Provide for the chronic health care needs of Medicare beneficiaries through prescription drug coverage and an adequate home care benefit.

Barnheiser said such action would not only help families but also reduce costs for Medicare and Medicaid. "We know that timely services like respite and adult day care can extend the ability of families to provide care -- sometimes delaying nursing home admissions by almost a year. Even a one-month delay in nursing home placement can save $1,863 per person -- and that adds up to savings of more than $1 billion a year in the costs of Alzheimer care."

"There is no way we can assure the future of Medicare if we let the family caregiving system collapse," said Barnheiser.

The authors of the study note they did not attempt to add "the well-documented toll on many caregivers' physical and mental health" even though "stress and exhaustion may lead to increased health care being devoted to the caregiver as well as the patient." It is well known that Alzheimer caregivers suffer higher levels of physical strain and emotional stress.

Other research shows that one in eight caregivers becomes ill or injured as a direct result of caregiving and that older caregivers are three times more likely to become clinically depressed than others in their age group. Huge pressures are placed on their other family and work responsibilities. It is not just the amount of time they spend but the type of care they provide that makes their caregiving so intense. Alzheimer caregivers are:

- Twice as likely as other caregivers to be providing more than 40 hours of care each week. Nearly three-fourths have been providing care for at least a year and almost 40 percent have been doing it for more than five years. They provide more help with activities of daily living and are more likely to be dealing with incontinence and with medication problems.

- Three-fourths of Alzheimer caregivers are women, and one in three has children or grandchildren under the age of 18 living at home.

- Seven in 10 are employed for at least some of the time they are caregivers. They miss time from work, cut back to part-time, turn down promotions, transfer to a less demanding job, choose early retirement or quit work altogether.

Employers also have a stake in a reliable structure that relieves the burden of caregivers. A Sept. 1998 study commissioned by the Alzheimer's Association revealed that caregivers absenteeism and lost productivity related to their absence costs employers $33 billion a year.

The study recently released today was based on data that show 22 percent of the caregivers care for someone with Alzheimer's disease (or "mental confusion") and those caregivers put in much longer time and more intense levels of care. Barnheiser said one-third of the $196 billion can probably be attributed to Alzheimer caregivers.

The study was conducted by Peter S. Arno, Ph.D., and Margaret Memmott of the Montefiore Medical Center/Albert Einstein College of Medicine and Carol Levine of the United Hospital Fund. It is based on data for 1997, the most recent available. The methodology used in the study was developed by Arno for the Families and Health care Project of the United Hospital Fund.

The Alzheimer's Association was founded in Chicago in 1980 and has grown to include more than 200 chapters across the country. The Greater Chicagoland Chapter serves those residing in Boone, Cook, Dekalb, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry, Stephenson, and Winnebago counties. There are currently more than 120,000 people in the Chapter's service area with Alzheimer's disease.

The Alzheimer's Association - Greater Chicagoland Chapter provides programs and services to families including Support Groups, Helpline and Educational Workshops. For more information about Alzheimer's disease or the Chapter's programs, call the Alzheimer's Association, Greater Chicagoland at 847-933-1000 or toll-free at 888-301-1819.

The four-hour course which is being held April 6 from 6-10 p.m., focuses on adult skills including basic cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR), rescue breathing and conscious and unconscious choking signs.

Participants will learn about heart-health living and risk factors for heart disease and the signs and symptoms of a heart attack. Infant and child life support skills will also be demonstrated. There is a $30 fee. For more information and future dates, or to register, call HealthAdvisor at 1-800-323-8622.

Good Shepherd Hospital is a 156-bed health care facility that offers a wide-range of community wellness and outreach services, education programs, and support group meetings. The hospital is a part of Advocate Health Care, one of the largest health organizations in the Chicago area. The hospital is located north of Barrington on Highway 22, two miles west of Route 59.

We've Lowered the Cost of a Mammogram to $20. Think of What You Could Save.

Obviously you can save a few dollars. But more importantly, a $20 mammogram could save your life. Because this safe, low-dosage X-ray can detect a tumor long before you can see or feel it. At Midwestern Regional Medical Center in Zion, or at the Cancer Resource Center, your mammogram will be performed by a conscientious technologist who is an expert in mammography and breast examination. Following the procedure, a board certified radiologist will examine and interpret your

X-rays and forward the results to your primary care physician. If you or someone you love needs a mammogram please call to schedule an appointment. At only $20 there's no excuse to wait any longer. Expires 4/30/99

Plan developing for public access of savanna

Trails, parking areas, and even an education center are some options to open up forest preserve to public

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

More than 10 years ago, Melinda Willen fought to keep a proposed 4,032 residential housing development from building in Grayslake.

Now, she looks back with pride that the proposed development never happened. Most of the property was bought up by the Lake County Forest Preserves and has become part of the Rollins-Savanna Forest Preserve, one of the largest preserves in Lake County spanning 1,224 acres.

Willen frequently takes her children out to the site to get in touch with nature. "It is a beautiful site, it really is," she said.

Even today, however, public access to the forest preserve is limited. There are no walking trails, parking or picnic trails for the public to use.

Therefore, the forest preserve has appointed an advisory committee, made up of Grayslake residents like Willen and officials from various agencies, to make recommendations about potential recreational uses for the preserve.

The first meeting of the Rollins Savanna Forest Preserve Master Plan Advisory Committee was held at the Brae Loch Golf Course Monday.

Mike Fenelon, director of planning, conservation and development for Lake County Forest Preserves, said it's too early to tell what recommendations the committee will come up with.

"We know there's going to be trails, we know there's going to parking out there but beyond that we really don't know," he said. "We know there's going to be restoration work for the prairies, but how much we don't know."

One possibility that has been discussed over the years is building an educational center at the site. The center could be used by school groups for research projects, and perhaps tied in with environmental classes at CLC.

The committee will be responsible for developing a strategic master plan for the preserve, a process which is expected to take about a year. Fenelon gave a slide presentation to the committee about some of the history of the preserve and its unique natural resources. The 1,225 acre preserve includes large wetlands, an oak savanna rich with open grown burr oaks and 450 acres of farmland. The south fork of Mill Creek runs through the property and it has frontage to Third Lake.

In May, committee members will take a walking tour of the entire preserve.

Any future public access or recreation improvements at the Rollins-Savanna Preserve will depend heavily on the passage of the upcoming forest preserve referendum April 13.

"We need to pass the referendum in order to have money available for implementing the master plan. It's very important to pass the referendum to complete this project and 11 other projects (in the forest preserve system)," said Carol Calabrese, president of the Lake County Forest Preserve Board.

Committee members are excited

Mike Dressler, Van Patton Woods Forest Preserve site manager, controls a burn of non-native plants to make room for native grass to grow in Rollins Savanna. Further plans being considered for the 1,224-acre savanna include an education center, trails and parking areas. about the possibilities at the preserve.

Bryce Carus, a resident who lives on Third Lake and whose property is adjacent to the preserve, serves on the committee.

Carus said habitat preservation is an important issue to him as well restoring the natural prairie habitats for wildlife. He said he often sees deer running through the preserve and he knows there's other wildlife like coyotes, which he often hears at night near his home.

But Carus realizes the public also wants to have some access to the preserve. He said a variety of possibilities will likely be considered, such as the potential development of snowmobile or cross country ski trails for winter activities.

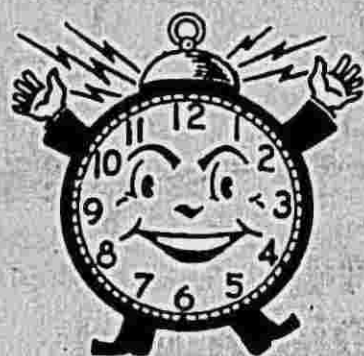

"I think one reality when you buy a forest preserve you just can't put up a big fence around it and not let anybody in it," he said. "You have to balance the right of people come in to enjoy the facilities with the need to preserve the habitat for wildlife."

Willen said the committee wants to ensure that whatever it does to open up the preserve to public access does not destroy its rich natural resources so that future generations can enjoy it.

"I'd like it (the Rollins Savanna preserve) to be like it was when the settlers came to the area, with the prairies and everything," she said.

Lake County students prepared for Envirothon

City Editor

Students' knowledge of the environment will be tested during the first annual Envirothon that will be held in Lake County in early April.

The Envirothon is a competitive, problem solving natural resource event for high school students intended to challenge the students' understanding of the environment.

At the national level, there has been Envirothon competitions held for about about the past 18 years. However, this is the first year that Lake County students are participating.

The competition will run from about 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. April 9 at the Greenbelt Forest Preserve in Waukegan.

"We have four teams registered this year. We're planning to make it an annual event," said Alyssa Wingender, resource conservationist with the Lake County Soil and Water Conser-

Forest preserve question gets unlikely support

Jack Martin providing help to the forest preserve referendum effort

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

The Lake County Forest Preserve referendum has received support from many quarters, including some unlikely ones.

Jack Martin, who led the opposition to the Feb. 23 open space referendum in Libertyville, said he has been working with "The Friends of the Forest Preserve" to help promote its upcoming referendum campaign.

The April 13 referendum asks voters if they will approve a $55 million bond issue to pay for the acquisition of new forest preserve land, expand trails, restore wildlife habitats and make other improvements to the forest preserve system.

"I do not think of this as a tax, but as an investment. This is an endowment in the future," said Martin, reached at his office at the Libertyville Saddle Shop last week. He said he is assisting the campaign in fundraising and in identifying probable voters.

In 1993, Martin said he was part of a coalition of business men and women, homebuilders and environmentalists who put together a referendum campaign for a $30 million bond issue to support the forest preserve district.

That referendum passed with more than 60 percent of the vote. With that money, the forest preserve district was able to add more than 1,600 acres open land, improve public access to trails, picnic and play areas, and preserve woodlands and wildlife habitat for future generations.

Martin said he doesn't know if this referendum will get that large of a plurality but expects it will be overwhelmingly ratified by the voters.

"I'd like to see a mandate. I'd like to see 60 percent (support) but I don't think it's going to get 60. I think it will be a 55 to 45 margin," he said.

Martin is not one to easily go along with referendum issues. He was at the forefront of the opposition to Libertyville's open space referen-

University Center is on hold

Senate cuts $11M in funding for construction

City Editor

State funding for the proposed University Center of Lake County could be in jeopardy as the Illinois Senate cut $11 million earmarked for construction from Gov. George Ryan's budget.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education pushed back its timetable for selecting a site for the University Center from April to June. One of the reasons for the delay is that the Senate slashed more than $250 million from Gov. George Ryan's budget, including $11 million for construction and $1.5 million in operating costs for the University Center project.

"It would be premature to select a site until the Legislature has endorsed the idea of the University Cendum and is opposed to the upcoming library referendum in Libertyville.

QUESTION: Referendum issue gets support

Prior to the 1993 referendum, Martin said he had opposed two prior forest preserve referendums because at that time he believed "extremists" were in control of the forest preserve board that wanted to acquire property through condemnation.

F.T. "Mike" Graham, Libertyville Township supervisor and a long-time foe of Martin's, questions the sincerity of Martin's support for the forest preserve referendum.

Graham said that Martin and Pat

Connors, who head the Association of Libertyville Township Property Owners, were adamant opponents of the Libertyville open space referendum and "in no way can they be considered friends of the open space movement."

"Jack Martin and Pat Connors will do whatever they can to promote their own agenda. They cannot be considered friends of the forest preserve, no matter what Jack does," he said.

Martin, however, said there is a major difference between the forest preserve referendum and the township open space plan.

"I was against Mike Graham's $76 million referendum because he had no plan," said Martin. "The forest preserve has a record. The forest preserve has a good record."

Martin added that the forest preserve referendum would be significantly less costly than Graham's open space referendum because it's spread out across all the voters in the county, not just Libertyville township voters. While $55 million may seem like a lot of money, he said financial estimates are the forest preserve referendum will cost the owner of a $100,000 home only about $9 per year in additional property taxes.

Graham said Libertyville Township is very supportive of the forest preserve referendum, but he admits being disappointed that the forest preserve didn't show more support for Libertyville's open space plan.

"In all candor, the county forest preserve and their environmental people should have been more bold in their support of our referendum," he said.

To Graham, the issue of protecting open space is more than an environmental one. He said the costs associated with development, such as building new schools and roads, far outweigh the cost of preserving the land.

"The public pays for it either way," said Graham. "They will pay less to preserve the land, than to develop it. It's not an environmental issue, it's a tax issue. The environment will take care of itself if we preserve the land."

CENTER: Senate cuts $11 million in funding for construction

ter and appropriated money for it," said Sevensen.

State Sen. Steve Rauschenberger, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said the senate needs more answers before it will approve funding for the University Center project.

"We don't have a consensus yet, even in Lake County, where they are going to build it yet," said Rauschenberger (R-Elgin). He added that "until we have more consensus, I don't think we're going to have widespread support."

Rauschenberger said the Senate remains supportive of the concept of the University Center, but some senators are concerned about the precedent of spending $11 million to fund a University Center specific to Lake County.

He said some people are concerned about "campus creep," meaning that if a new University Center is built in Lake County, other urbanized counties will be asking for money to build similar facilities.

"I don't know whether the General Assembly is ready yet to support construction of bricks and mortar," Rauschenberger said.

However, Rauschenberger emphasized the University Center is not a dead issue, and the Senate is seeking more information from the State Board of Higher Education about what's being proposed.

"In all likelihood, we will do something in Lake County, but it may not be a new building," said Rauschenberger. "We need to learn more."

Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) said it's too early to tell what will happen in the budget process and she hopes the issue will be resolved and funding restored. "I'm very hopeful," she said.

Sevensen also believes the money will be restored after the legislature learns more about the University Center and its benefits.

"We fully anticipate this to be a temporary setback," he said. "We expect those funds will be restored. If that happens, there will be no impact on the timetable (for construction) of the University Center."

The delay gives the State Board of Higher Education more time to evaluate the three remaining sites being considered for the University Center. The three sites include a vacant parcel of land at the College of Lake County in Grayslake, a downtown industrial park site in Mundelein, and the Lakehurst Shopping Center in Waukegan.

"We want the perspective of the (state) Capital Development Board to make sure we have enough information to make an informed decision," he said.

If the funding is appropriated, plans are for the state board to choose a site in June. Construction would then begin sometime next year with an anticipated completion date of sometime in late 2001.

County Board Chairman Jim LaBelle said he has not heard anything about the state cutting funding for the University Center project.

However, LaBelle said there is typically some wrangling in Springfield before the final budget is approved, and he doesn't anticipate it will delay the construction process.

ENVIROTHON: County students prepare for competition

vation District.

The teams are made up of five students each. Students from Grayslake High School, Waukegan and North Chicago are participating in the competition.

The objectives of the competition are threefold: 1) to test high school students knowledge about the environment and natural resource issues; 2) to cultivate within students the desire to learn more about the natural world; and 3) to encourage students to consider careers in environmental fields.

"It's a good team building opportunity," added Wingender.

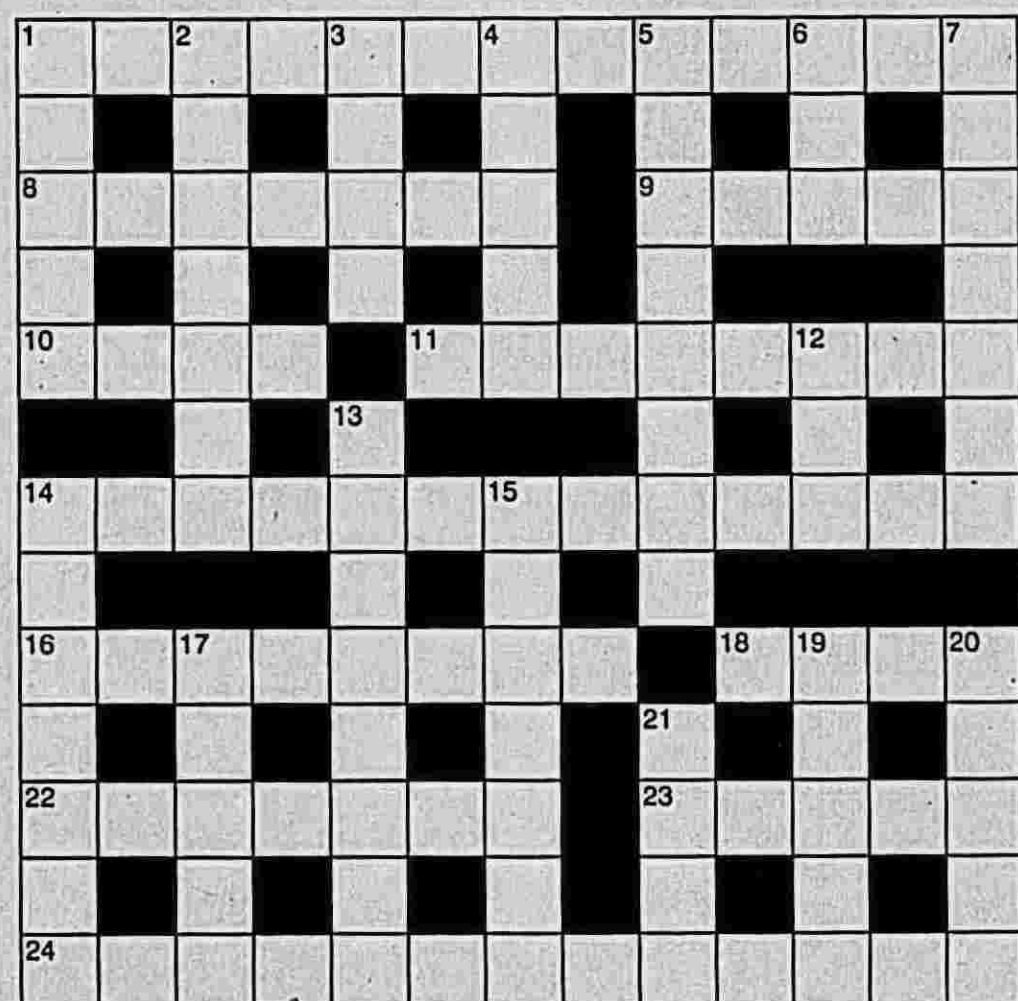

The high school students prepare throughout the winter with study materials provided to them in areas of wildlife, aquatics, forestry and wildlife management.

To begin the competition, students will then be assigned to one of the five areas, where they will listen to a presentation by a professional in the field. They will then be given a multiple choice test and a practical exam that they will have a limited time to complete.

The team scoring the highest will then be gauged against students from surrounding counties, such as Kane, DuPage and Cook. The team in the region with the highest score will have the opportunity to go to the state, and possibly national Envirothon competition.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Village on alert for burglars

Libertyville—The Libertyville Police Department has issued a neighborhood alert as the result of a recent rash of residential burglaries.

Eight burglaries which have occurred in Libertyville over the past two months appear to be related, said Libertyville Police Detective Bill Kinast.

Some of the burglaries have occurred between the hours of 6 and 9 p.m., and none of the residents have been home when the incidents occurred.

In all of the cases, entry was forced and all of the rooms were ransacked.

Small items such as cash, coins and jewelry are the target, Kinast said. Large items such as televisions and electronic equipment have not been taken.

Grayslake looks to improve parks

Grayslake—The Grayslake Park District looks to improve services and facilities for disabled residents, with the Special Recreation referendum.

The referendum would mean a tax increase of four cents on every $100 EAV, or approximately $18 per year for a home with a market value of $185,000.

Approval of the referendum would allow the park district to join a special recreation association (SRA).

An SRA is a cooperative of several park districts and recreation agencies working together to provide recreation to all of their residents.

Grayslake is the only park district in Lake County which does not belong to an SRA.

Parade to lead children to egg hunt

Antioch—Antioch's Eggcellent Easter Adventure for children 1 to 10 years old is April 3 at 11 a.m. at Williams Park after the Easter Parade through downtown Antioch.

The parade steps out at 10:30 a.m. from Park Avenue to march north on Main Street to Williams Park behind the Antioch Public Library District.

The parade will feature a full compliment of participants with some new entries previously not seen.

"The Easter Bunny will be riding in a car at the end of the parade," said Laurie Stahl, director of the Antioch Parks and Recreation Department. "There are about 20 different entries."

The front end of the parade will include a mixture of local groups such as the Girl Scouts, Mr. Pigg from the Piggly Wiggly supermarket, the Antioch Republican Club, area pageant queens, Antioch banks, a karate studio, PM&L Theater, and the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District.

Library to host celebration

Lake Villa—Lake Villa District Library will invite all district patrons to attend a day-long festival of the creative arts.

Storytelling, theatrical and musical performances, wandering entertainers, an animal show, door prizes, and refreshments are enticements for all who attend.

Celebrate Your Library is Saturday, April 17 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. for the entire family.

Complimentary bus service is available from the west parking lot of the Eagle Country Market at 1500 Grand Avenue.

Patrons should plan to use the free shuttle service. It will be available from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mundelein man arrested

Mundelein—A 24-year-old Mundelein man was arrested for breaking into a home on March 25.

Police arrested Robert Munkacsy of 58 S. Garfield Ave. at approximately 1:15 p.m.

Police were called to the 400 block of Woodlawn Drive in response to a suspicious person report made by residents. While checking the area, police heard noises inside a home.

Upon entering the home, they found Munkacsy, who had taken three video tapes and a small toy. The items were valued at $32.

Showtime

Munkacsy gained entry to the home by forcing open a rear door, police said. He was remanded to the Lake County Jail. His court date is pending.

Concept of new library unveiled

Libertyville—Representatives of the architectural firm of Meyer, Scherer, & Rockcastle, Ltd. recently presented the public with a conceptual design of what a new Libertyville library facility at the current site and a branch site in Vernon Hills could potentially look like.

Jeffrey Scherer, the partner in charge of the project, stressed that the conceptual drawings are what is possible, but not what the finished product would be.

The Minneapolis-based firm, which specializes in library design, outlined what type of facility would be possible for the site based on detailed numbers obtained from each department of the library as to how much space will be needed over the next twenty years.

The branch site would be 18,072 square feet with parking at ground level.

Osmond to resign from township

Antioch—Illinois Representative Timothy H. Osmond (R-Dist. 62) will honor a commitment to resign from his post as Antioch Township Supervisor once the new township budget was prepared.

Osmond said that he would like to see township trustee Steve Smouse receive the appointment to the supervisor position.

"I am going to resign effective April 8," Osmond said. "It will be up to the township trustees to appoint a new supervisor."

The newly appointed township supervisor will complete the remainder of Osmond's term.

Osmond said that Smouse is a well known resident with a deep commitment to community service. "He's been very concerned with the township through involvement with the Lions Club, Rotary, and the rescue squad."

Referendum to improve schools

Beach Park—On the April 13 ballot, Beach Park Consolidated School District 3 will ask voters for $14.6 million to upgrade existing school facilities and build a new middle school to accommodate increasing student enrollment.

If the referendum is approved the state will also provide a grant of $6.29 million for the project. The total estimated cost for the project is $21.52 million.

The referendum plan would include building a new middle school on 30 acres for 810 students. Kenneth Murphy School would house 450 students; Beach Park would house 540; Newport would house 270; and Beach School would house 300 pre-kindergarten and kindergarten students. Howe School would be closed, and alternative uses would be sought.

Known drug dealer nabbed

Round Lake Beach—Special Agents from the Lake County Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG) and officers from the Round Lake Beach Police Department, executed a criminal narcotics warrant at 1515 Turnbull Drive in Round Lake Beach.

Angel Montemayor, 18, was arrested and charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance, and unlawful possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver.

Round Lake Beach Police and MEG seized 35 grams of cocaine having a street value of $3,500. Officers also found $5,401 in U.S. currency, a sophisticated electronic scale, and cocaine packaging materials.

Montemayor was taken to Lake County Jail and was held without bond.

Financial office opens

Fox Lake—A former minister-turned-financial advisor has opened up an Edward Jones Investment office in the village.

Tim Olsen, 39, held a grand opening on March 30 at his office, 32 W. Grand Ave., but does not intend to do all his business there. "I go door-to-door," he said. "I think face-to-face business is the best."

Five years ago, Olsen was minister of Lake Pointe Community Church of Island Lake, where he lives with his wife and three sons. The church has since disbanded.

Dist. 118 candidates forum

Wauconda—All four school board candidates for Wauconda Unit District 118 are scheduled to attend a candidate's forum at Wauconda High School.

The forum will be held Monday, April 5, at 7 p.m., in the high school library, 555 N. Main St. The League of Women's Voters of Lake County is sponsoring the forum, and will provide a moderator, said Susan Dorn, a league member.

Incumbent board Members Nancy Pesz, Tom Weber and John Armstrong are facing Jim Davis, a challenger from Island Lake, in the April 13 election, where three four-year seats are up for grabs.

Comprehensive plan update

Fox Lake—Village officials are planning to update the village's Master Plan into a Comprehensive Plan. The need to update the plan is imperative, as the Master Plan is nine years old, as it was completed in 1991.

Yet, that is not the worst of it, as the information used to create the plan was from 1987, said Mayor Jim Pappas. The board is looking at hiring Pete Pointer, a planner who gave the presentation of the new water tower at the Art-Works Children's Art Museum & Resource Center.

Board members asked Pointer to return for a discussion with them in April. Among the issues to discuss include how the village can update its Master Plan and turn it into a Comprehensive Plan, and start implementing part of the plan next year.

Easter bonnet parade, party

Wauconda—Celebrate Easter Weekend with the Girl Scouts of the Menominee Neighborhood, as they host their Second Annual Easter Bonnet Parade on Saturday.

The parade starts at 1:30 p.m. April 3, with approximately 150 Girl Scouts showing off their bonnets of the season as they march on the sidewalk from Wauconda Middle School, through downtown and back to the school, where an Easter-themed party will be held for all girls, ages 5 to 18, from Wauconda, Island Lake, Volo and Barrington.

Refreshments will be served, door prizes will be awarded, and games such as an egg hunt and cake walk will be held. Prizes will be awarded in five different bonnet categories.

Merged election a Shepherd's Stew

In theory, the new Illinois consolidated election law makes a lot of sense. Save money. Focus attention of electors. Encourage greater voter turnout. As the old saying goes, though, "The proof is in the pudding." Thus, it remains to be seen whether balloting April 13 will turn out to be a chef's delight or a plate of distasteful hash.

Election officials around the state have reached new heights of ingenuity in preparing for Election Day, resorting to such things as color coding, special type and unique markings to keep ballots separate. They're girding for a long count. In Lake County, with upwards of 500 voting districts, there will be more than 500 ballot variations to accommodate approximately 580 candidates and 30 referenda.

As we mentioned several weeks ago, local voters will have their work cut out. Tax increases for educational purposes dominate the referenda questions. Five townships—Lake Villa, Deerfield, Libertyville, Waukegan and Wauconda—will vote on the question of making health care a basic right, the so-called Bernardin Amendment. Gurnee voters will pass judgment on a knotty development question. Waukegan voters will decide on a 9-1-1 upgrade. Hawthorn Woods voters are being asked to approve a shopping center development. All in all, the non-candidate questions add up to a veritable shepherd's Stew.

One of the reasons State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville) supported legislation to consolidate spring and fall elections was to create greater accountability for village officials who add to educational costs by advocating growth and development policies. We applauded Moore's stance at the time. Whether voters will re-elect or punish village trustees whose go-go growth votes cause havoc with school funding and add to real estate tax bills will be answered—or partially answered—Tuesday, April 13.

Simplicity wins!

Simplicity is a never failing path to follow. That's why it makes perfect sense to name the new Vernon Hills high school Vernon Hills High School and change the name of Libertyville's Butler Lake campus to Libertyville High School.

Among names considered by the board of education for the new school were Centennial High (overblown, vague) and Libertyville South (trite, demeaning, confusing).

Ugh! Ah, for the simple, the unadorned, the utilitarian. Thank you, school board. We know what you're talking about.

VIEWPOINT

Name's the game! Moreso in politics

In politics, a great ballot name is worth gold. So sayeth a Lake County political sage of long ago. And in the wiseman's view, any name ending in "son" or carrying the flavor of the Olde Sod was a certain ticket to success.

The sage began following politics in the Roaring 20's when "Big Bill" Thompson was mayor of Chicago and Lou Emmerson was governor of Illinois. About the same time, the Irish established their grip on public office high and low that stands to this day. Gov. Jim Thompson served so long he was referred as "Governor for Life."

Now that voters are sifting through countless names in preparation for the April 13 consolidated election—most of them unfamiliar—the political name game takes on added importance. How many electors will decide alone on the basis of a good sounding name?

A national commentator, swayed by St. Patrick's Day festivities this year, no doubt, was taken with the fact that politicians with Irish names hold most of the major offices in Illinois. Fitzgerald, Madigan, Devine, two Ryans, Daley. Including the original Mayor Daley, an Irish-American has been mayor of Chicago for all but nine of the past 66 years.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

The sounds of Erin come through strongly in the ranks of Lake County mayors—Pat Carey, Grayslake; John Clery, Hawthorn Woods; Barry MacLean, Mettawa; Bill Fitzpatrick, Tower Lakes, and Bill Durkin, Waukegan. The only "son" is North Chicago Mayor Jerry Johnson. A number of local mayors can trace a touch of Ireland in their family bloodlines.

At least one candidate in the April 13 election seems to be relying on the premise that a nice sounding name is the only requirement for election. Nancy Jackson, Gurnee village trustee candidate, filed nominating papers and promptly disappeared. She's a mystery. Jackson proved the advantage of a good ballot name two years ago in winning election as a library trustee, but only shows up now and then for meetings.

A University of Illinois professor found that Irish-Americans historically are disproportionately represented in Congress. A University of California sociologist said flatly, "Given a choice, people pick Irish." Today, the Irish are regarded as a prosperous, privileged ethnic group. They have been stereotyped as witty, charming and outgoing.

Testing the wiseman's theory in a modern day Lake County election, we discovered a slight edge for surnames with a definite Irish origin over the "sons" or "sens" 32 to 29. Combined, the two are far and away the most names in the golden category out of more than 579 persons on the April 13 Lake County ballot. Interestingly, surnames of easily identified Italian-American origin came in for a strong third with 28.

Now we'll wait and see what happens Election Day.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Support Forest Preserve bond referendum

The Lake County Forest Preserve referendum on the April 13 ballot will help shape the future of Lake County. Its objective is to strike a balance between development and open space.

Voter approval of the referendum will allow the Forest Preserve District to continue acquiring land and complete the trail system that is already a wonderful amenity to people all over Lake County.

Can you visualize Lake County 50 years from today? The population will have doubled or tripled by then, and congestion in the current forest preserves will be unimaginable unless we plan for the future now. The amount of open space must grow with our growing population, or those wonderful trails we enjoy will become just as crowded and unpleasant as our roads are today. Our children and grandchildren will be the real beneficiaries of our foresight in supporting this referendum.

On April 13, take five minutes of your time and vote YES for the Forest Preserve referendum. It will be 144 on the ballot.

If you can't make it to the polls that day, vote early at your township office, or get an absentee ballot from the County Clerk (360-3610).

Preserve habitats

In 1993, I was part of a coalition of businessmen and women, homebuilders and environmentalists who put together a referendum campaign which over 60 percent of Lake County voters supported. That $30 million dollars has been spent in a prudent and responsible manner by our Lake County Forest Preserve District, adding over 1,600 acres to the Preserves and opening up our open space with trails, picnic and play areas, and preserving woodlands and wildlife habitat for generations to come.

We said in 1993 our program would cost about $7 per $100,000 market value property. The actual cost was less, at $6.75 in additional property taxes per year.

Again, I am working to help Friends of the County Forest Preserve District pass in April their request for $55 million dollars.

Today, as in 1993, I want you to know this referendum will not stop development, relieve gridlock on our roads or lower our property taxes. But it will preserve and restore wildlife habitats, wetlands, prairies and trail corridors. The additional funds will provide and protect the natural beauty of Lake County and help build and improve trails and public access for our neighbors and families to enjoy with pride and the knowledge we all have done our share to preserve our rich legacy.

The financial estimates I have reviewed indicate that this referendum of $55 million dollars will cost the $100,000 market value homeowner slightly more than $9 million dollars—$9.13 to be exact.

As one who has built a reputation as an anti-tax person and one who looks for fiscal responsibility from our taxing bodies, I believe we cannot afford to miss this opportunity to endow in the future of Lake County for ourselves and our children.

It is important that our Forest Preserve be allowed to proceed with a mandate to continue their commendable record for preservation and management of our lands.

I ask each of you to look at the Lake County Forest Preserve referendum not as tax but an investment in our future and vote YES with me on April 13.

Expect Fitzgerald to break GOP jinx

With six years in office, U.S. Senator Peter Fitzgerald (R-Ill.) has a good shot at breaking a jinx that has dogged guest speakers at the annual Lake County Republican Federation Annual Spring dinner.

Illinois' first GOP senator in 20 years has accepted an invitation to address the event set for Friday, April 30, at Lincolnshire Marriott.

Recent guest speakers include ex-Gov. William Weld of Massachusetts, out of elective office and sidetracked in a bid to become ambassador to Mexico; ex-House speaker Newt Gingrich, resigned, and the late Congressman Sonny Bono (R-California) who lost his life in an untimely skiing accident.

The dinner is the biggest event of the year for Lake County Republicans, usually attracting more than 700 persons who contribute from $75 to $250 each. Federation Executive Director Antonietta Simonian is taking reservations at 680-6680.

Birthday event

Rosemary Mers, Wauconda civic leader and national Grandmothers Club officer, is rallying support for a 150th anniversary celebration for Wauconda Township next year. She's invited volunteers to contact her.

Guest speaker

Len Mattson, president of the Antioch Township Republican Club, announced that Bill Schroeder, publisher of Lakeland Newspapers, will be guest speaker at a meeting, Wednesday, April 21 at the Antioch Township Hall.

Where's interest?

Although he's unopposed for re-election, Lindenhurst Mayor Paul Baumunk has been campaigning like he's got a fight on his hands. Baumunk is out to prove that Lindenhurst residents are interested in their local government. Oh? Marilyn E. Gregorian is unopposed for village clerk and three trustee aspirants are running unopposed.

Wrong direction?

Environmental groups are taking encouragement from a recent state survey of Lake County residents, which they say shows residents don't want a new highway built in the county.

The public opinion poll was commissioned by state agencies and released by opponents of the Route 53 last week.

The survey indicated by large majorities that residents supported local road improvements. Sixty-three percent of those polled thought the widening of the county's existing roads would help combat traffic congestion. Seventy-two percent of the respondents believe the addition of turn lanes is a helpful strategy.

However, only 43 percent of those questioned felt building new highways would help alleviate traffic congestion.

Citizens and environmental groups believe this indicates that a large number of county residents view the proposed construction of Route 53 highway with skepticism.

"It means that based on what is an accurate assessment of Lake County's transportation needs, that residents believe the most effective way is to improve what we already have and they don't think building a new highway is the solution," said Deb Giles, head of North Corridor Against the Tollway, a member of a regional coalition opposing Route 53.

Boogie the cat's big adventure

Every now and then, the media come across a story that warms the hearts of people who are pushovers for their pets.

Last week, the animal story of national interest happened at O'Hare Airport in Chicago. Major newspapers gave it considerable coverage.

It was about a cat named Boogie, whose owner Cindy Burke was flying her from Buffalo, N.Y., to a new home in Las Vegas, in the cargo hold of a United Airlines jet. But when the trip ended, Boogie wasn't among the baggage.

Burke, naturally upset, got the Federal Aviation Administration and the U.S. Humane Society on the case. It was discovered Boogie got loose in Chicago during a flight transfer when the latch on her pet carrier opened accidentally.

The Chicago airport isn't the best place to be stranded but Boogie had been a stray on the streets of Buffalo before Burke adopted her.

Lo and behold, a week later an airlines worker spotted Boogie on the tarmac near the terminals. When he approached, she ran away but later was found in a baggage tractor. She had lost weight but had survived the scary ordeal.

The airline fed Boogie, had a veterinarian check her out, and shipped her to her owner in a new cage with a better lock. The airline gave Burke $200 worth of flight coupons while an animal lover gave the worker who rescued Boogie a $1,000 reward.

Another cat tale captured the media's attention three years ago. A firefighter battling a garage fire in Brooklyn, N.Y., noticed a cat carrying a kitten out of the flames. The cat, named Scarlett, went back into the burning structure four more times to retrieve the rest of her litter. She was badly burned but the kittens were only singed.

THE PFARR CORNER
Jerry Pfarr

The firefighter took the brood to veterinarians who placed Scarlett in an oxygen tent. When the story and photos spread throughout the land, the animal hospital received more than 1,000 calls offering to adopt Scarlett and her litter.

Anyone who has watched a female cat tend to her kittens isn't surprised at Scarlett's motherly dedication.

Also, every now and then, pets amaze us the way Daisy did:

A family summering in upstate New York temporarily, they thought, adopted the cat. They abandoned her when they returned to their home in New York City and were startled a month later when she appeared on their doorstep carrying one of her kittens. Their astonishment grew as Daisy made four more trips to her old home 200 miles away, returning each time with another kitten. Believe it or not.

There have been countless yarns about cats and dogs traveling long distances via an amazing homing instinct to be reunited with their human families. A cat named Sam was reported to have spent four years journeying 1,400 miles to find the folks who left him behind when they moved from Arizona to Beaver Dam, Wis.

It has been said that when God invented the devoted dog he put his whole heart into it. I'm not sure what he was thinking when he invented the more aloof cat but, hey, in case of fire someone has to rescue the kittens.

COMMENTARY

Villages work within guidelines to shape developments

By MARILYN SHINEFLUG
Mayor of Antioch

In his "Letter to the Editor" published in the March 12 issue of Antioch News, Norm Geary questions the Village of Antioch's recent approval of the Deercrest Planned Unit Development. His question, "Will we ever learn?" seems to imply that the Village Board somehow erred in voting for this development.

Previous approvals

In fact, the Sprenger property was annexed to the Village and zoned R-1 PUD (Planned Unit Development) on Feb. 1, 1989. The current Comprehensive Plan recommending one-acre lot residential use for this property was adopted on Dec. 16, 1991. No plan can take away the rights vested by previous zoning approvals. The property owner and his contract purchasers have reasonable expectations to obtain approval of a development proposal that falls within the R-1 and PUD guidelines of the Village's ordinances.

Actions by others

While the possibility of sewer service may have seemed remote in 1989, within five years Abbott Laboratories, the largest employer in Lake County, announced the purchase of approximately 990 acres southeast of the intersection of Routes 45 and 173. Because future development of that site as an office and research facility would require sanitary sewers, the Lake County Board approved rezoning of the Abbott Labs property and the creation of a Special Service Area (special tax district).

Growth controls

The Village of Antioch participated with Lake County officials in minimizing the gross density of area development to a range of 2.0 to 2.22 dwelling units per acre by placing a maximum treatment capacity on each site within the Special Service Area. Without such agreements, proposals for 2.9 (or more) dwelling units per gross acre could have been received and considered.

Based upon the R-1 zoning, and the formula in the PUD section of the zoning ordinance, the maximum gross density could have been 2.9 dwelling units per acre. This maximum density applied to the Sprenger site could have resulted in 672 dwelling units. Instead, the Village approved 495 dwelling units on the 232-acre site. Of the total 495 units, 379 will be single family homes and 116 will be town homes (side-by-side, attached single-family) with a maximum of four units per building.

Open space

Nearly 58 acres of park property with $883,000 of park improvements bonded at 115 percent were approved. This acreage exceeds the amount of park land required by ordinance by 789.7 percent. In addition to this public park dedication to the Village, 31.6 acres will be common Homeowners' Association open space. There will be a total of 89.6 acres (38.24 percent of the total site) of open space within the Deercrest development.

Special joint meeting

Geary also implied that the Village Board did not take the Planning and Zoning Board recommendation into consideration. In fact a special joint meeting of the Village Board and the Planning and Zoning Board was held on Jan. 12, 1999.

During this workshop, special concerns of the Planning and Zoning Board were discussed and addressed by a combination of additional information and changes including the removal of 20 town homes from the proposed plan.

Sewer extensions

A major topic of discussion at the workshop regarded proposed sewer and water extensions. It was explained that the County's Special Service Area funds not only the treatment plant expansion, but also the extension of the sanitary sewer to the Abbott site. The current terminus of that sewer is situated on the east side of Route 45 approximately one-half mile south of Route 173.

The Village's water system along Route 173 ends at about Lyons-Ryan Ford. Additional sanitary sewer interceptors and water main extensions could be funded by individual developers, property owners or the Village. Although the Deercrest Venture originally proposed to pay directly for these off-site utility extensions, after much study the Village decided it would be preferable to use a bond issue to pay for the off-site extensions both to maintain control over future users and receive revenue directly.

It appears that if development in this area proceeds as expected in the next 10 to 15 years, the Village could receive about $2 million in additional revenue.

Financial protections

If development does not proceed as expected and user fee revenue does not pay for the bonds, two back up mechanisms will protect the Village. The first back up will be a special assessment on each landowner in the Deercrest PUD. The second back up will be an irrevocable letter of credit from the developer. The Deercrest Venture has agreed with this approach.

Contrary to Geary's comments, the users of the existing system (west of Deep Lake Road) and the Village will not be responsible for any of this debt.

School impact

State Statute and case law limit both school districts and the Village in their attempts to relieve development impacts.

The Village of Antioch's latest impact fee update was approved in March, 1998 as Ordinance Number 98-03-06. The two previous school and park impact ordinances were approved in 1995 and 1990. Thus it is clear that the Village is attempting to keep up-to-date with current costs and demographics.

Summary

Development is an economically driven reality in Lake County. Municipal and county growth controls have limitations defined by Illinois State Statute and by court challenges to impact fee legislation. The continuing issue of pro-growth versus anti-development is not as simple as we may like.

However, Antioch should continue to responsibly control growth using our limited power through appropriate zoning, sanitary sewer agreements, annexation agreements, and boundary agreements with our neighboring municipalities to affect the intensity of development.

Perfect lunch

I'd like to know what's wrong with the Round Lake School Board? They have a lunch service that is perfect. They have nothing bad to say about it but they just voted in a new lunch program that is $50,000 higher a year. That $50,000 should go for books, or to improve the schools. They are coming up with a referendum. I don't understand why over five years it would be over $250,000 for food service. I want to know where the money is going to. We are already $8 million dollars in debt. I don't understand what the school board is doing.

Round Lake

Stop playing politics

At a recent board meeting in Round Lake Beach, six of the board members decided to conspire together against the mayor. This is basically not in conjunction with the slate that ran two years ago in 1997. That slate promised us as a village, a government of honesty and integrity and open government. Now rather than having that, we have a government of rumors, lies, and conspiracy. A trustee publicly made an attack on a mayor based on hearsay, something that cannot be proven, something that is absolutely ridiculous. Furthermore, the six of them conspired against the mayor to remove his secretary without consulting him. This type of conspiracy government is not needed in Round Lake Beach and I pledge all of them to stop playing the politics.

Honesty, best policy

To the person who found my 13-year-old son's wallet. No, you didn't steal it, but you kept it. You have his week's lunch money and his Christmas gift cards. Hopefully what you buy with it will make you feel as good as he would have in spending it. Someday, somewhere, you may lose something. Hopefully, it will be my son who finds it or returns it to you or reports it to the police, just as I have taught my son to do.

No turn-about dances

I agree wholeheartedly with the person who called about the Turn-about dances they are holding at the grade schools. Not only that, whether they are turn-about or not, they seem to be encouraging children, from 5th grade on up to have a date. There is enough sex and other problems going on in the world right now. They should let it be a party or a dance that everybody attends. This seems to me to be encouraging dating at an early age. Please go out and support the Little League this year—there is no charge. Spend a nice Sunday afternoon or some evening and watch these kids that are out there playing. Commend the coaches that volunteer for these things, they are teaching the children how to get along with each other and enjoying themselves. It's good exercise and they are having a good time. Quit complaining about it.

Let's bowl

Regarding the Fox Lake car dealer that is going to tear down the bowling alley to make his car dealership larger—I think Fox Lake needs a bowling alley more than they need to enlarge the car dealership.

Change board

I would like to thank the board of education for bringing in a new food service Chartwell, aka Canteen. Chartwell was thrown out of the City of Chicago for not following FDA regulations and now they are coming to Round Lake to serve our children. Parents, find out where your tax dollars are going before voting on April 13. If anything needs change in Round Lake, it's our board of education, not the food service. Parents beware—Chartwell is coming to serve your children.

Garbage alley

Lake Avenue in Fox Lake looks like an alley. There was an ordinance passed in May, 1996 stating that garbage cans should not be visible from the street. Fox Lake passes these ordinances and then do not enforce them. There is one-half block in Fox Lake that comes to a dead end and there is at least 12 homes on either side of the street that have visible garbage cans. The street still looks like an alley and Fox Lake should take it upon themselves to enforce ordinances that they pass. If they aren't going to enforce the ordinance, they should never pass it.

Fox Lake

Look at figures

As an employee of the Round Lake School District food service, not living in the Round Lake District, I was appalled at what happened at the board meeting in regards to the bids for new food service. The board accepted a bid of a company that was $50,000 more plus from another company where I work, in hoping to improve better food for the kids. Figure this one out. Round Lake school still is in the "red." They happen to be the only district that are financially troubled in Lake County. Figure that one out. Why? The company that I worked for was a great company. They should stay there, Round Lake could save themselves $50,000 plus if they would have kept us. Let them know $8.2 million dollars right now is their deficit. They add another $50,000 times five years for the contract. $250,000 more they are adding onto their deficit. Are those people stupid or what?

Lake Villa

YES to sewers

When the rain falls here in our neighborhood, in unincorporated Antioch, our neighborhood wells turn into holding tanks; as do our lakes. Many people can't flush their toilets for days. We have lived here five years and we were sick from our well water for the first six months. Save our health and save our lakes. We say YES to a sewer system.

Unincorporated Antioch

Smoke free

Smoke free restaurants are opening all over and are doing a good business. McDonalds at Highway 12 and 120, is smoke free and they have a lot of customers walk in and smell the food, instead of smoke and stale beer, like we have in all the restaurants in Fox Lake. Couldn't we have one family restaurant in Fox Lake that is smoke free? When we leave a restaurant in this area and go home, we have to dump all our clothes and wash our hair before retiring.

Same dirty tricks

It appears that politics in Grayslake are heating up and going back to the same old dirty tricks they have always used. I have recently noticed that some very large, hand painted signs for a candidate for village trustee in Grayslake, recently disappeared. It would appear that incumbents are back to their usual tricks to try to keep the public from getting to know the other candidates. Apparently they would prefer that the public either not know anything about the candidates or just be misinformed. Residents in this town, should be able to learn who the candidates are. I sincerely hope that as they are evaluating candidates and going to the polls in April that they consider actions like this

Curios-er

I have read that Jim Walton in Fox Lake is not running for trustee as he said he was. I am curious, are the people that donated to his campaign, going to get their money back? I was one of the people that gave money to his campaign. That's my fault—I believed him.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Five Elements of H.A.P.P.Y. Customer Service

Service is a critical element of success in a service economy. For all businesses, of all sizes quality service is a must.

However, today's customer is a tough and unforgiving judge. The customer demands better care and we must deliver better service to survive. Here are some thoughts to guide you on your quality improvement journey.

H.A.P.P.Y. Care

• Hassle free. I define hassle-free service as "quick, convenient and complete."

Several weeks ago I rented a car from a local company. As I approached the desk, three young men were in sight. (Two on the phone and one behind a cubicle wall apparently doing paper work.)

After a brief wait, one of the men on the phone cupped his hand over the receiver and shouted across the room to tell the one not on the phone to "get the guy at the counter." A few seconds later I was "got."

They had rented all of the car model I'd reserved, so I accepted the minivan offered at the same price. Then the real wait began. I had to wait several minutes while the back seats were replaced. Then I waited 10 more minutes while they added gas to the tank. When I checked the gauge there was a quarter tank of gas. I commented on this and the rental clerk replied, "No problem; just bring it back with the same amount." Quality service is simple: Have the car reserved, eliminate the wait and fill the tank so the renter doesn't have to add gas twice.

My rental car experience was neither quick, convenient nor complete. My advice for the company who picks you up: Try harder.

• Always improving. One thing I've noticed about companies who give great service is that they never give it a rest. Today's great service is never good enough. Their long-term goal is perfection. Their short-term goal is excellence.

To improve your service you must measure how you're doing. Then you must find ways to please the customer even more. Look outside your own company for improvement ideas. Adapt good concepts and raise the standard.

• People centered. The key to great service is great people. Quality service can only come from people who are trained carefully and love to serve.

My advice is to hire C.U.T.E. people. The "C" stands for caring and friendly, the "U" for untiring, the "T" for truthful and the "E" for enthusiastic.

• Promise keepers. Keeping your promises is not the ultimate goal of a company focused on improving its customer service. Being a promise keeper is the foundation of great customer service. It is a minimum base to build on.

For example, if you repair automobiles and promise to have a customer's car ready by 5 p.m., you haven't given your great service if you finish the car at 5 p.m. Build on that foundation by vacuuming the carpets, cleaning the windows, or picking the customer up at work, etc.

• Yearly assessment. Great service companies give themselves regular checkups. They ask tough questions. I've included a few thought starters, but you can prob-

BFI MVP honored for private/public partnership

Because of superior quality and service, BFI Waste Systems of North America, Inc. was honored by Lake County as part of its first-ever Partners in Excellence Program.

A Lake County employee nominated BFI for the award, which acknowledges BFI's excellence throughout 1998. BFI was specifically cited for its work handling medical waste from Winchester House, a senior citizens center run by Lake County. BFI also handles medical waste from several other health centers in Lake County, as well as residential waste.

"The purpose of the award is to recognize and show appreciation to contractors who provide excellent quality and service at competitive prices," said Anne O'Connell, Lake County manager of communications. Although this is the first time Lake County has awarded contractors, it will now be a yearly event.

"It is an honor to accept this award on behalf of BFI, but this would not have taken place without the drivers, customer service and all the hard working employees at the Waukegan facility," said BFI District VP Ray Carter.

BFI was honored at Tuesday's Lake County Board Meeting.

Deadline nears for summer conservation job program

Do you know a Lake County teenager who is looking for rewarding summertime employment? Youths between the ages of 16 and 18 who are available between June 14 and August 6, can apply for jobs with the Lake County Forest Preserves' Youth Conservation (YCC) until Saturday, May 15 at 10 a.m.

On Saturday, May 15, the YCC job lottery will be held at Half Day Forest Preserve near Vernon Hills to draw names of the applicants who will receive summer positions. Applications will be accepted up until the time of the lottery drawing which begins at 10 a.m. The drawing will take place at Shelter C in the Preserve.

Applicants need not be present to be awarded a position. However, alternates will be selected only from those present at the drawing. Winning applicants will be notified by May 21. Applications are also available and are being accepted at the Lake Forest Preserve General Offices at 2000 N. Milwaukee Av. in Libertyville through Thursday, May 13.

YCC positions are rewarding summer employment. Outdoor work experiences are combined with 40 hours of environmental education to develop an understanding of and appreciation for the environment. Students receive training in basic first aid, conservation practices, construction techniques and the proper use of hand tools.

For the past 25 years, the Youth Conservation Corps has helped hundreds of young men and women gain work skills while learning about the environment and enhancing Forest Preserves throughout Lake County. Donations are the sole source of the youths' salaries for the summer conservation job program. Major corporate supporters include Tenneco Automotive, Abbott Laboratories, Allegiance Healthcare Corporation and Motorola. Contributions of all levels from businesses and individuals are needed and appreciated. A goal of $255,000 to fund 50 positions has been set for 1999. A donation of $2,200 supports each position.

Half Day Forest Preserve is located on Milwaukee Av. (Route 21) south of Route 60 near Vernon Hills.

For more information on the drawing, job applications, or donating to the YCC program, call Jason Marsoobian, YCC Program Manager, at 526-0238, ext. 28.

Waukegan celebrates National Community Development Week

The city of Waukegan joins hundreds of communities throughout the country in celebrating National Community Development Week and the 25th year of Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funding. Waukegan's celebration runs through Friday, March 26. Lake County and North Chicago begin their celebrations on March 29 and April 5, respectively.

The highlight of Waukegan's celebration includes an Opera House on Wednesday, March 24, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the City Council Chambers at 410 Robert V. Sabonjian Place. This Open House features displays and brochures from numerous programs and projects which are available, in part, due to the availability of CDBG funding. There will also be door prizes and refreshments provided. This event is open to the public and CDBG staff will be in attendance to answer any questions.

Enacted into law in 1974, the CDBG program is the principal federal program providing grants to states, cities, and towns to devise neighborhood approaches that will improve the physical, economic and social conditions in communities. It is administered nationally by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

According to Ezell Robins, Waukegan's CDBG Director, Waukegan expects to receive $903,000 in CDBG funding in 1999. The primary use of Waukegan's CDBG money is to benefit low income people through a variety of programs, many of which have informational displays at the event.

Questions about the event or the CDBG program should be directed to 599-2530.

Credit Union reports record growth for 18th year

At its annual dinner meeting for shareholders, Consumer Cooperation Credit Union reported its 18th consecutive year of record growth in 1998.

Assets for the 68 year old institute increased by 14.2 percent or $27 million in 1998 to $217.3 million. Since 1980, Consumers assets have increased from $12.5 million for an astounding growth of 1638 percent to become the tenth largest credit union in Illinois.

Loans increased by a record $26.4 million or 18.9 percent. First mortgage loans increased by $17.6 million to provide 67 percent of loan growth.

In other positive news, dividends increased 15.5 percent or $973,489. Loan delinquency increased 15.5 percent or $937,489. Loan delinquency was at .31 percent, three times better than the .90 percent nationally for credit unions. The number of members (customers) of the credit union reached 41,487, an increase of 2,567 people.

Investments for substantial 21st century growth resulted in a decrease in earnings to $1,281,906 compared with $1,638,582 in 1997. William Reidel, President, said large amounts of money and energy went into building a new site in Round Lake, adding and training employees for future growth at all facilities and paying for resources to prevent a Y2K problem.

Not all of the costs of Y2K are shown in the annual report because a five person management and computer expert committee worked on it with Y2K taking time away from their normal duties of managing and creating profit growth.

Reidel said Consumers has successfully met every Y2K deadline test. Validation tests generate as much as 17,000 pages of records. The critical items and many of the non critical items in running a successful financial institution into the next century have been tested and approved by a respected consulting company.

Reidel said the financial goals for 1999 include offering at least four important new products to assure growth, lower cost and provide new conveniences for members. Among the financial goals is to increase share/savings by at least 10 percent, increase loans by 14 percent, and to earn a return on assets of .8 percent or higher.

The annual dinner meeting attended by 160 people was held in the Country Squire Restaurant, Grayslake. Consumers is headquartered in Waukegan with offices in Lincolnshire, Mundelein and Round Lake.

TAYLOR: The elements of customer service are assessed

zably add many to these.

Assessment questions: In what areas can we document that our service improved? What skills did we acquire this year in our company that allowed us to serve our customers more effectively? Who has responsibility for improving service this year? Does our use of technology support improved customer service. Do our service policies provide genuine value to our customers? Are we out serving our competitors?

You can improve your service quality. Try the H.A.P.P.Y. system. It may just make a few customers smile.

Staff ReporterThe Easter bunny, egg hunts, and baskets filled with candy have often been staples of the Easter season. However, for Christians, the Easter season holds a very special meaning.

The Lenten season begins on Ash Wednesday, which marks the beginning of Lent. Many Christians attend church services on this day in which the pastor or priest places ashes on each person's forehead. The ashes signify repentance, self-examination, and spiritual re-direction.

The Lenten season is a 40-day period which is a remembrance of Jesus' 40 days in the desert. For many Christians, it is a season of prayer and fasting. Some people choose to give up their favorite food or sweets to provide more time for spiritual reflection and prayer, as well as to remind themselves of the sacrifices Jesus Christ made. The Lenten season, however, does not include the six Sundays between Ash Wednesday and Easter.

This week commemorates Holy Week, which is the last week of Lent. It consists of many important days of Christian life. Palm Sunday, which was celebrated on March 28 this year, marks Jesus' entrance into Jerusalem. Maundy Thursday, which is also known as Holy Thursday, marks the betrayal of Judas. It is a remembrance of communion and Jesus' Last Supper with his disciples.

Today, April 2, is Good Friday, which marks Jesus' arrest, trial, crucifixion, and burial. It is a solemn day of reverence for Jesus' death.

Tomorrow, April 3, is known as Holy Saturday, which remembers the Jewish Sabbath when Jesus rested in his grave. April 4 is Easter Sunday, which is a day for all Christians to celebrate Jesus' resurrection.

While all churches have special services to honor each of these days, a select few have chosen to celebrate by way of elaborate dramas and presentations. Perhaps one of the most elaborate events was held on March 28 and April 1 by Salem United Methodist Church of Salem, Wis. For a number of years, the church has presented a re-enactment of Leonardo Da Vinci's painting of "The Last Supper." During the performance, each of Jesus' disciples came to life to share his faith journey with Jesus.

The church held two presentations of "The Twelve," and offered open communion during each.

For the 64th year, Christ Community Church, located at 2500 Dowie Memorial Drive in Zion, is presenting the Zion Passion Play. The play chronicles many moments in the life of Jesus Christ, including the raising of Lazarus, Palm Sunday, the Last Supper, trial before Caiaphas, his crucifixion, and resurrection.

A total of 200 people are involved in the play, from actors to the full orchestra to the technical crew.

The Village Church of Gurnee, located on Hunt Club Road at Dada Drive, will be having a special production this weekend. For the 10th year, the church will present a play based on the Last Supper, crucifixion, and resurrection of Jesus Christ. A total of 31 actors and 40 choir members will participate in the dramatic and musical presentation of these three events.

Another special event is held each year at St. John's Lutheran Church, located at 501 W. Park in Libertyville. According to Pastor William Kant, approximately 30 church members will present the "guarding of the tomb" beginning at 3:00 p.m. today, Good Friday, until 6 a.m. on Easter Sunday.

The event is in its 5th year.

Milot leads Blue Devils into Y2K

You might not hear the chants "Walker, Walker" or see Kolar and Brandow banging inside with the opposition, or even perhaps the finely-run offense in the hands of Langston Hughes.

Instead, there will be some new, or different, faces in the lineup as the Blue Devils head into the next millennium.

But don't worry, every little thing is gonna be alright, to paraphrase Bob Marley.

Head coach Chuck Ramsey and his troops are hoping to bring in the new millennium with a bang by duplicating the magic generated from their second place finish in the Class AA State Tournament two weeks ago.

But they will have to do it without the likes of Walker, Brandow, Kolar and Hughes, just to name a few.

Warren will return only two players from the 28-5 team that will look to defend its North Suburban title, regional title, sectional title, supersectional title, etc...

You might be familiar with one-junior forward Jourdain Milot. Milot, an all-conference and all-area selection, led the Blue Devils with his 15 points and nine rebounds per game.

His tenacious defensive play and inside scoring were just one of the many pieces of the puzzle that allowed Warren to have such a successful season.

"He's a great passer, defender, and rebounder," said Ramsey.

Now one might think with the team's leading scorer and rebounder coming back, is Ramsey going to let Milot run wild for his senior campaign and go out averaging 30 and 15?

Not the case, at least according to Ramsey.

"Jourdain isn't that type of player," said Ramsey. "He's very unselfish and as long as he feels he's doing everything he can and the team wins, that's the main focus."

Milot will have much needed help, with backcourt sharp-shooter Ricky Higgins returning for his senior year. Higgins, who mostly came off the bench and saw quality minutes this season, really stepped up his game in the three games down-state in Peoria, where he averaged over 10 points per contest.

"Ricky is an excellent ballhandler and has great range shooting outside," said Ramsey.

"He got some great experience this season, which will definitely work to his advantage next year. He and Jourdain will be looked to for a lot of the leadership."

In addition, the Blue Devils will benefit from the services of four returning varsity players in guards Nate Alden and Steve Davis, and forwards C.J. Cusker and Dave Piepenbrink.

"They're all great players," said Ramsey. "They didn't get much playing time simply because they were playing behind seniors and excellent talent."

Warren will also benefit from the services of an excellent sophomore team that went 22-2 this season.

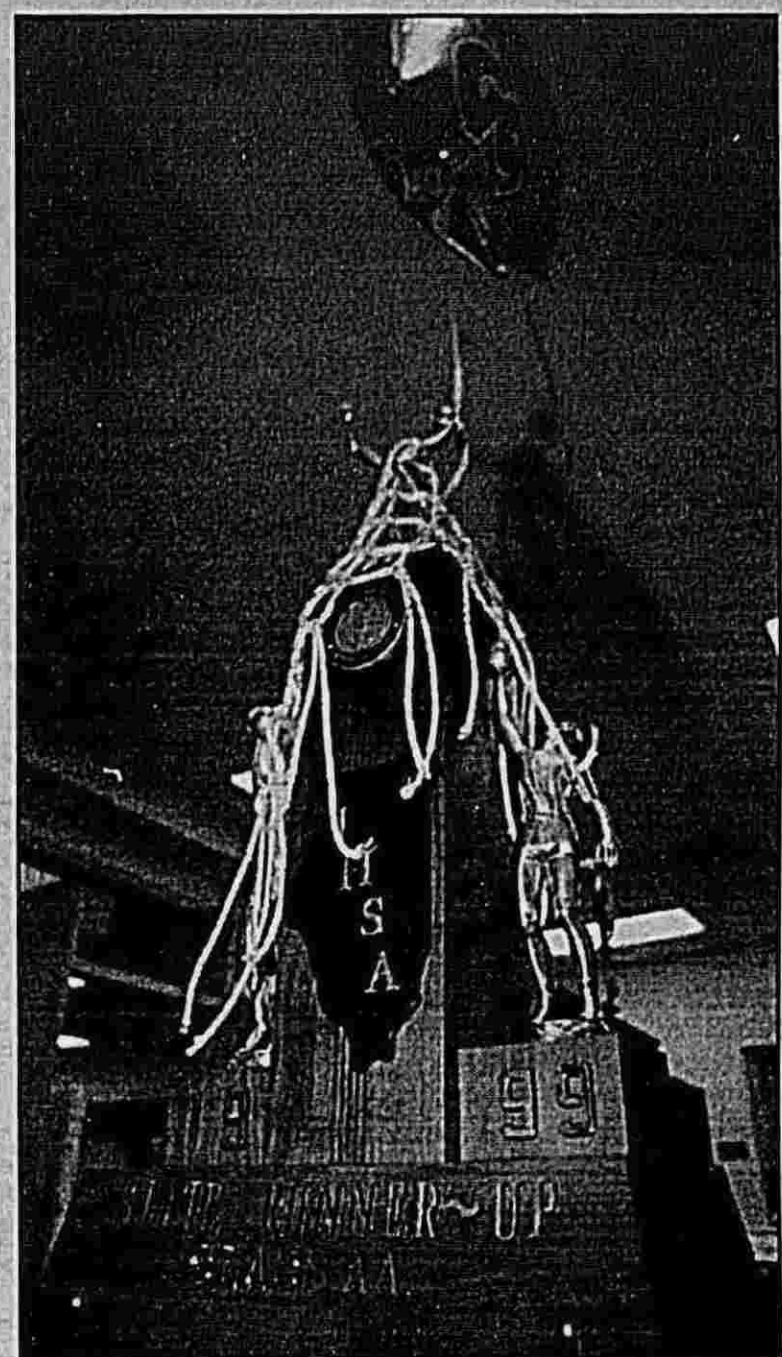

"There are a number of great kids coming up from the sophomore team that have the potential to be very good varsity players," Ramsey said.

But what it really comes down to is this. It doesn't seem to matter that Warren has that big-time and highly heralded scorer, just as long as three ingredients are involved in the equation.

"We will, as usual, run a team offense," said Ramsey. "Rebounding, defense, and team play are what Warren basketball is all about."

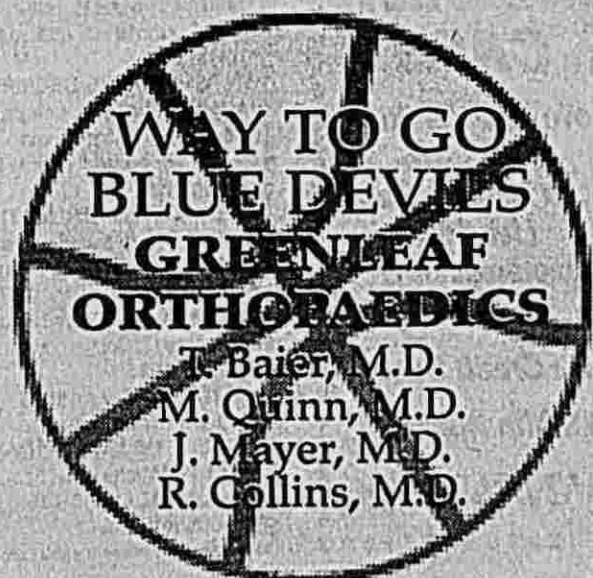

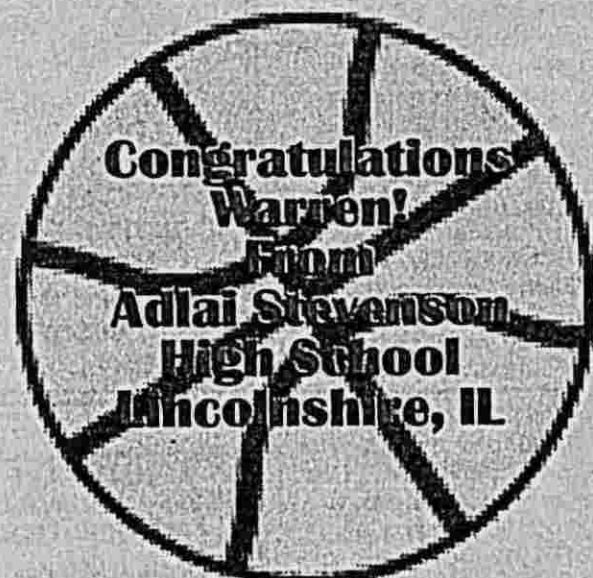

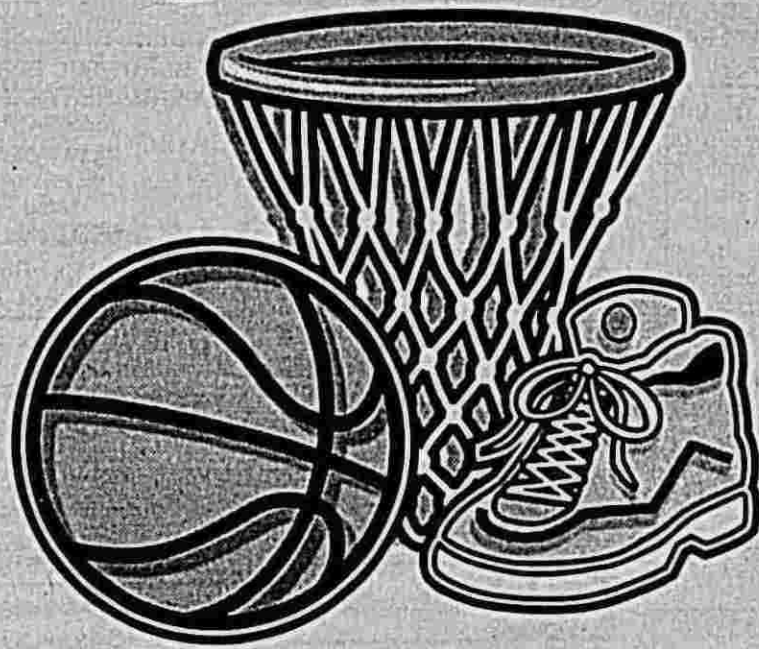

There will be some new faces, but if the Blue Devils stick to exercise those three ingredients, it doesn't matter who's on the court. Look what happened this year!

How To Survive
The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

What do you do with a co-worker who has a chronic problem with lying. We work with an employee who every day comes up with the most outrageous stories that leave everyone in the office talking about it until the next day when a new story begins. These stories range from bizarre to horrifying. One day she told us all that 25 years ago she had been brutally attacked by 4 men when she lived in Virginia, the following month she told another group a story about how she had never been west of Chicago. The stories and rumors are flying all over. We think she needs professional help. People are talking and we worry that her lies are coming in to the workplace with more than just coffee or lunch breaks. Some of us who work with her in other areas of the company are concerned with truth in some of her everyday work, such as whether or not the report was mailed out on time? Did you place the overseas call that we needed before the deadline? Were the transfers made? We feel as though the company should let her go, but the bosses like her work and praise her all the time. We read your column every week and a few of us decided to write to you to see what you thought? Thank you for your time. A/P Dept. - Mundelein.

Is it time for a witch-hunt? You're a tough crowd! Gossip in the workplace can be absolutely brutal. It is amazing how you can get a group of people together and make them believe anything you want to, that is, if they will allow themselves to believe it! Don't condemn this person because they may be a bit different. Don't believe everything you hear. This co-worker has given you no iron-clad evidence that her quality of work has been affected, and the bosses are pleased with her work, then why would you all be wasting your time bashing her. The only reason I could imagine is that perhaps it is BECAUSE she is liked by the bosses, and there may be a bit of envy going on. If all of you are busy worrying about this person's working capabilities, when she has given no proof as to being anything other than a good employee, then perhaps you all have way too much time on your hands at work to be feeding into this. If you are all worried about the workplace, why not start by putting a moratorium on co-worker bashing?

Pet OF THE WEEK

WHITE PAW

White Paw is this week's "PET OF THE WEEK." He is a 2 1/2-year-old Keeshond who enjoys swimming, playing fetch, and going for car rides. He shares his home with Kelly the German Shepherd and Thomas the Siamese cat. Submitted by: Elizabeth M., N. Chicago

April, 1999

(337-060)

The 2,514 square foot Hannah (337-060) would make an ideal home for a growing family. This country-style charmer, with a beautifully crafted exterior of wood and brick, has the look of a much larger home.

A covered front porch accents the provincial appeal of the Hannah, while providing a welcoming atmosphere for family and friends. The vaulted entry leads into an open floor design that makes excellent use of the available space. The sleeping quarters have been placed to the right of the entry, while the main family rooms are on the opposite side of the home.

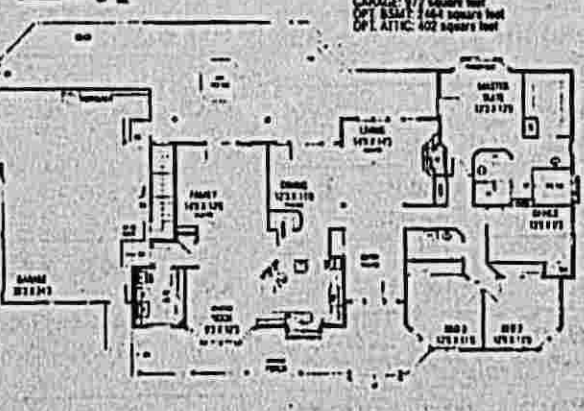

The spacious master suite has a linen closet just outside the entrance and is loaded with amenities. They include a huge walk-in closet, a nice bay window with a place to sit and enjoy the view or a good book, personal access to the back deck and a private bathroom which has a glass block shower, oversized bathtub and two basins. The two front bedrooms are equipped with ample closet space and plenty of windows. They are separated from the master suite by a roomy home office and a full bath.

The L-shaped kitchen will please the cooks in the household. Placed strategically, the kitchen features a walk-in pantry, eating bar, double ovens, island cooktop and large garden window. A vaulted breakfast nook adjoins the kitchen.

The vaulted dining room and living room open to each other, creating a large central area. Warmed by the fireplace, this is the spot to enjoy a good meal and after-dinner conversation. The big family room has a vaulted ceiling and direct access to an enormous back deck. Here you have a built-in hot tub and enough room to invite lots of company over for a summer barbecue.

Placed conveniently by the garage is a good-sized utility room that has a pull-down ironing board and a table for folding clothes. Across the short hall is a broom closet. The garage itself has room for three vehicles, along with a shop area and space for extra storage.

For a study kit of the HANNAH (337-060LP60) send $14.95, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Specify plan name & number for kit). For a collection of plan books, send $20.00, or save by ordering the kit and collection together for $29.95, or call 1-800-562-1151.
